TRUMP ADMIN FILES APPEAL NOTICE, QUESTIONS COURT'S AUTHORITY

US court blocks Trump tariffs

DIETRICH KNAUTH & DANIEL WIESSNER
New York, May 29

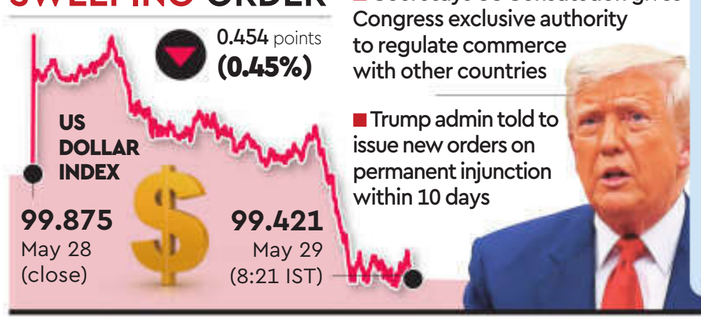

A US TRADE court blocked most of President Donald Trump's tariffs in a sweeping ruling that found the president overstepped his authority by imposing across-the-board duties on imports from US trading partners.

The Court of International Trade said the Constitution gives Congress exclusive authority to regulate commerce with other countries that is not overridden by the president's emergency powers to safeguard the economy. "The court doesn't pass upon the wisdom or likely effectiveness of the President's use of tariffs as leverage," it said in the order to issue a permanent injunction on the tariff orders issued since January.

Trade talks with US to resume in Delhi next week

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, May 29

A TEAM OF trade negotiators from the US will be in New Delhi next week to take forward discussions on the interim trade agreement which could come as soon as before the last week of June. The negotiators will be in India from June 5 or June 6, a senior official said.

Through the interim trade agreement, India is looking to avoid additional 26% tariffs on its exports to the US, which were announced by President Donald Trump under the reciprocal tariff plan on April 2.

"We are well on track in our bilateral trade agreement (BTA) with the US," commerce and industry minister Piyush Goyal said at the annual general meeting of the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII).

Rate cut season may get longer as RBI takes a growth pivot

MAHESH NAYAK
Mumbai, May 29

THE RESERVE BANK of India's (RBI) monetary policy stance will continue to support economic growth as inflation is well within its target at 4%, the apex bank's annual report for FY25 said.

"The relatively benign inflation environment, combined with moderate but steady growth, justifies a monetary policy stance that is supportive of economic expansion," the report released on Thursday noted.

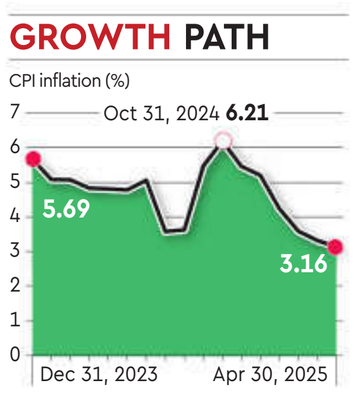

It also projected a bright future for the Indian economy, with the country expected to maintain its position as the fastest-growing major economy in the world in FY26.

According to the report, the RBI projected India's real GDP growth at 6.5%, while consumer price index (CPI) inflation forecast to moderate at 4% — well within the tolerance band.

This suggests that the RBI may go for further interest rate cuts, even as early as the June policy next week, to further boost growth.

Economist and bankers agree on the RBI stance. Suvodeep Rakshit, chief economist at Kotak Institutional Equities, said that now that the inflation is under control and growth is slowing, if not absolutely falling off, it's an opportune time to prioritise growth without compromising on inflation.

GROWTH PATH

- RBI's annual report projects a bright future for the Indian economy
- India expected to maintain position as fastest-growing major economy
- Report projects real GDP growth at 6.5%

The RBI attributes India's growth trajectory to strong macroeconomic fundamentals, a resilient financial sector, and the government's continued focus on sustainable and inclusive development.

Flipkart parent adds another ₹2,225 crore to its wallet

RAGHAV AGGARWAL
New Delhi, May 29

FLIPKART INTERNET, THE marketplace arm of Walmart-owned Flipkart, has secured another capital infusion of ₹2,225 crore (approximately $262 million) from its Singapore-based parent entity. The latest funding comes just two months after a previous infusion of ₹3,200 crore, signalling continued confidence in Flipkart's growth prospects ahead of a planned public listing.

According to filings with the Registrar of Companies, the board of Flipkart Internet has allotted new equity shares to Flipkart Marketplace, the Singapore-registered parent. The capital injection comes at a time when Flipkart is accelerating preparations for its much-anticipated initial public offering. The company is also in the process of shifting its legal domicile to India, in a move widely seen as a prelude to the domestic listing.

Ola Electric losses double, revenue tanks

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, May 29

OLA ELECTRIC'S LOSSES more than doubled in the January-March quarter to ₹870 crore, driven by a sharp decline in revenue, mounting operational challenges, and intensifying competition from legacy automakers. The figure far exceeded Bloomberg estimates of a ₹407.80-crore net loss.

Revenue from operations dropped 56.4% year-on-year to ₹726 crore, well below the ₹915 crore expected by Bloomberg. The fall in topline performance was attributed to a slowdown in vehicle registrations, disruptions in scaling its direct-to-customer sales and service network, and pressure from traditional OEMs that have accelerated their electric vehicle offerings. Regulatory scrutiny over sales reporting further weighed on quarterly performance.

Vehicle deliveries nearly halved during the quarter, down to 51,375 units from 115,000 units in Q4FY24.

The company still claimed to have retained market leadership for FY25, with full-year deliveries rising to 359,000 units, up from 329,000 a year earlier.

New F&O playbook: Sebi tightens norms

NESIL STANEY
Mumbai, May 29

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Thursday announced a fresh set of guidelines for the derivatives market. Positioned as the futures and options 2.0 guidelines, these measures are expected to further improve risk management, implement adequate surveillance as well as smoothen settlement of trades in the derivatives markets.

"With increased retail participation, offering of short tenure index options contracts, and heightened trading volumes in index derivatives on expiry day, it is crucial to ensure integrity of securities market ecosystem," the markets regulator said.

Sebi will not monitor intraday index option positions — a major relief to market makers who said constant monitoring would disturb liquidity. However, it will now track Open Interest (OI) using a new method called FutEq or delta-based OI. It has also increased the position limits for index options.

In addition, it will allow broader limits based on a mix of fixed amounts and a percentage of market Open Interest, depending on the type of investor (like FPIs or mutual funds).

The 'market wide position limits' (MWPL) of stocks have been tweaked. MWPL shall be lower of 15% of free float and 65x Average Daily Delivery Value (ADDV) with a floor limit of 10% of free float, Sebi said.

Maharashtra, MP march ahead, but most others slow in implementation

Eight years on, RERA long on promise, short on delivery

RAGHAVENDRA KAMATH
Mumbai, May 29

EIGHT YEARS AFTER its implementation, the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (RERA) has covered some distance but poor implementation — the familiar bugbear for many such well-intentioned programmes — continues to play spoilsport.

Out of 36 states and Union Territories, five still have interim RERA authorities while two don't.

"After eight years, different states have taken different steps, but the best are Maharashtra and Madhya Pradesh. But even they have not met 50-60% of their targets," said Gulam Zia, senior executive director, Knight Frank India, adding many of them have achieved just 20-25% of targets.

THE STORY SO FAR

- Over 143,000 projects registered with RERA authorities comprising 11.1 mn units between Jan 2017 and Jan 2025
- Arunachal Pradesh and Sikkim have not set up a RERA authority, while Meghalaya only has an interim authority
- Meghalaya and Manipur also do not have a RERA web portal yet
- Arunachal Pradesh, Meghalaya and Jammu & Kashmir among states that have not yet set up an appellate tribunal

Struggling with data load

Experts point out RERA authorities are struggling with challenges ranging from humongous data and lack of skilled manpower to too much reliance on state agencies. Besides, RERA authorities don't have the teeth to enforce their orders and often have to depend on state authorities. The state bodies, however, often ignore RERA, a consultant who did not want to be quoted told FE.

Zia said that in Maharashtra alone, 8,000-10,000 projects are registered with MahaRera, the state's RERA authority.

"There could be errors in data, but no state RERA authority can audit such humongous data," Zia said, adding that the current system is based on complaints by buyers.

"Data uploading is voluntary. Only if buyers raise an issue, problems come to surface," he added.

Zia said that unless AI and machine learning are implemented, the problems will remain.

Though there has been criticism that there is no mechanism to check whether developers have deposited 70% of the collected funds in escrow accounts as per the RERA norm, experts say this rule has helped stop developers from transferring the money for other purposes.

Anuranjan Mohnot, managing director and CEO, Lumos Alternate Investment Advisors, said if developers do not meet the escrow norms, it is a violation of law and has to be strictly dealt with. However, if customers fail to check the escrow account, it is a fault on their part, he added.

Silver lining

Despite the issues, developers say that before and after RERA's implementation, there has been a 100% improvement in the way the sector operated and regulated. "Now, there is no worry about titles, no worry about money being misused and a separate body to look into complaints," Hiranandani Group chairman Niranjan Hiranandani said.

Compete, don't count on rupee fall: CEA to India Inc

● Asks industry to increase capex for Mission 2047

ANANTHA NAGESWARAN, CHIEF ECONOMIC ADVISER

> We can't achieve the kind of development that we hope to achieve in next 25 years unless there is a collaborative approach, not just between Union & state govts but also between states & private sector

> Regardless of how the tariff numbers will play out after 90-day expiration, there will be some sectors where India did not enjoy an advantage before, it may enjoy an advantage later

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, May 29

INDIA MAY HAVE to deal with the challenge of living in an environment of a stronger currency, necessitating the private sector to become competitive based on domestic productivity improvement, chief economic adviser Anantha Nageswaran told industry captains at a CII event.

For this, deregulation also has to make a big contribution as it becomes more important than before, he said.

Speaking at the CII Annual Business Summit 2025, Nageswaran said that the International Monetary Fund has forecast the GDP of India to rise to $6.8 trillion by FY31, and their implicit forecast (they don't make an explicit forecast) is for a 0.5% to 0.8% annual rupee depreciation.

"I would say for the private sector people assembled here, do not expect that the Indian rupee will necessarily be weakening, as it did in the last 30 years," he said, citing international trends.

Experts have referred to the rise of India's fortune after the rupee was devalued in 1991, with India currently following a policy of allowing the rupee to depreciate in the long run while managing in the short run to curb volatility. A weaker rupee helps exports become more competitive globally.

In an effort to stabilise the currency and curb undue volatility, the Reserve Bank of India sold a record $34.5 billion on a net basis in FY25. The rupee eventually depreciated by 2.4% during the financial year.

Nageswaran asked the industry to ramp up capital expenditure and raise workers' compensation in line with profitability growth to achieve over 6.5% economic growth and become a developed nation by 2047.

Highlighting the importance of a virtuous cycle of investment, he said that the increased investment would not only enhance capacity but also create more jobs at greater remuneration, leading to higher household savings.

"We are facing this challenge that the growth in profitability has not only exceeded the growth in capital formation, but the growth in profitability has also trailed the growth in compensation, which includes hiring as well, and that is something that we can ill afford for the next 25 or 30 years," he said.

This kind of challenge is generally faced by developed countries and not developing countries like India, he said.

The other key area, which the private sector should focus on, is the balanced deployment of capital and labour, he said, adding that India would require a lot of investment in creating capacities, including in infrastructure space, over the next 25 years.

Design in India for the next level of growth: Vaishnaw

RAGHAV AGGARWAL
New Delhi, May 29

UNION IT AND RAILWAYS minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Thursday stated that both manufacturing and services are crucial for driving India's next phase of economic growth. He urged the industry to shift its focus towards designing products domestically.

Speaking at the CII Annual Business Summit in New Delhi, Vaishnaw said that the country has come a long way from developing technology, both on the software and hardware side, to the production of finished goods, components, and now semiconductors. He said the government is witnessing change in the industry's intent to to transform India into a "product nation".

"Using the change in mindset, we can develop as a product nation," Vaishnaw said. "And to be that, if we can put in that required effort towards design thought process in whatever we do, then we can really take the growth to the next level."

He stressed the importance of retaining intellectual property (IP) rights and ensuring manufacturing happens within the country, alongside continued growth in the services sector.

Vaishnaw also said that the industry should stay prepared for the changes being brought in after the arrival of artificial intelligence (AI). He announced that the government will procure an additional 14,000 graphics processing units (GPUs) under the National AI Mission, supplementing the earlier acquisition of 18,000 GPUs.

This move is expected to enhance India's capacity to develop and train advanced AI models, including both Large Language Models (LLMs) and Small Language Models (SLMs), which form the backbone of gen AI technologies.

The minister affirmed the government's commitment to supporting foundational AI model development under the AI Mission. These models, he said, will be open source and broadly accessible.

"The goal is to ensure AI tools and infrastructure are not concentrated in the hands of a few but are accessible to all innovators and developers," he added.

"We are developing many applications which will be open source to everybody so that you can use those applications and see how you can improve productivity within your own industries," Vaishnaw said.

Pointing out that the government has set up a virtual AI Safety Institute, he urged India inc to use AI in a "humane" manner.

Projects promised but not delivered on time: IAF chief

AMRITA NAYAK DUTTA
New Delhi, May 29

IN A WAKE-UP call to the nation and the defence industry, Indian Air Force chief Air Chief Marshal AP Singh, flagging delays in critical projects, on Thursday said he could not recall a single instance of a project being completed within the stipulated timeline.

Addressing the CII Annual Business Summit, Singh said timelines (promised on military projects) are a "big issue". He underlined that "we have to be ready now to be future-ready".

"Not a single project, that I can think of, has been completed on time," he said. "So, this is something which we have to look at. Why should we promise something which cannot be achieved? While signing the contract itself, sometimes we are sure that it is not going to come up. But we just sign the contract, thinking we will see what to do after that. Obviously, then, the process gets vitiated."

Although he did not mention any particular defence PSU, firm or project, the reference to projects not being completed on time likely pointed to instances of critical projects for the IAF missing deadlines.

Bery: Economy at $15 trn in PPP terms, more than half of US

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, May 29

NITI VICE-CHAIRMAN SUMAN Bery on Thursday urged states to take full advantage of the free trade agreements (FTAs) that the country is signing with developed nations. He highlighted that India's economy, in purchasing power parity (PPP) terms, has reached a significant milestone of $15 trillion — more than half the size of the US economy.

PPP offers a way to compare the real value of money across countries by estimating how many currency units are needed to buy certain goods in different economies. It allows more meaningful comparisons than nominal GDP.

"While we are a $4 trillion GDP at market prices, at PPP term, we are $15 trillion economy," Bery said, addressing the Annual Business Summit 2025 of the industry body CII. The size of the US economy in PPP terms is around $29 trillion.

Bery said India needs to diversify its sources of supply, so the country would not have to depend on a particular supplier.

With the central government creating the conditions through negotiation of FTAs and bilateral investment treaties, states have to come forward to harness these opportunities, he said.

He said competitiveness should not only be restricted to manufacturing but should extend to services as well.

Mittal bats for one nation, one election

RAGHAV AGGARWAL
New Delhi, May 29

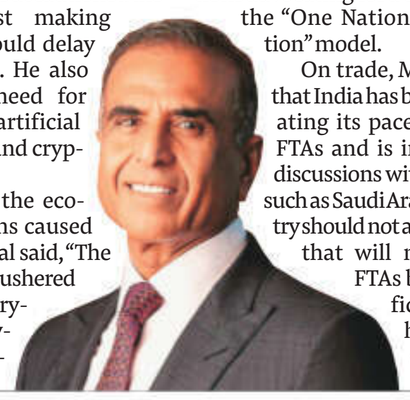

SUNIL BHARTI MITTAL, chairman of Bharti Enterprises, on Thursday urged the industry to rally behind the "One Nation, One Election" reform and actively engage with the government and political parties to underline its economic benefits.

Speaking at the CII Annual Business Summit, Mittal welcomed the progress on free trade agreements (FTAs) between India and major global economies but cautioned the industry against making demands that could delay their conclusion. He also suggested the need for frameworks for artificial intelligence (AI) and cryptocurrency.

Highlighting the economic disruptions caused by elections, Mittal said, "The code of conduct is ushered in fairly early. Everything stops — government contracts, government payments, and a lot of restrictions come on economic activities. Our elections are repeatedly happening every few months, every other year." He argued that such frequent elections cause a slowdown in the economy.

He urged the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) to form a dedicated committee to engage with political parties and showcase the long-term benefits of synchronised elections. Notably, CII had earlier this year submitted recommendations advocating for a transition to the "One Nation, One Election" model.

On trade, Mittal noted that India has been accelerating its pace in signing FTAs and is in advanced discussions with countries such as Saudi Arabia. "Industry should not ask for things that will make these FTAs become difficult. It will help," he said.

● SANJAY SWARUP, CHAIRMAN AND MANAGING DIRECTOR, CONCOR

'CONCOR's annual capex will be ₹800-900 cr in next 4 years'

With over 60% market share in India's container rail logistics business, Container Corporation of India (CONCOR) is at the forefront of Indian Railways' ambitious efforts to expand its presence in the logistics sector. The state-run entity is diversifying its commodity mix and adding new terminals, containers, rakes, and services to reinforce its leadership. In a conversation with Manu Kaushik, Sanjay Swarup, chairman and managing director of CONCOR, discussed the company's growth strategies. Excerpts:

What is your strategy behind the integrated logistics solutions?

Integrated logistics is a key focus area for the management. Under this initiative, once a container or cargo reaches a terminal, we offer customers warehousing facilities, value-added services, and first-mile and last-mile (FMLM) delivery. We have evolved from being a pure rail operator to an end-to-end logistics service provider. Launched around three years ago, this service is now available across India for both export-import (Exim) and domestic segments. Customers can also avail themselves of door pickup and delivery services through a mobile app. In FY25, total FMLM volume stood at 0.78 million twenty-foot equivalent units (TEUs), accounting for around 35% of our total volume. Our target is to scale this up to 100% in the current financial year.

The company is investing heavily in sustainability, especially in areas of solar power and a shift towards LNG trailers.

The last decade marked the onset of environmental, social and governance (ESG) related regulations, and in the next decade, ESG will take the centre stage. From our terminals to the shippers' premises, the movement of goods happens by road.

Till recently, we were using just diesel vehicles. We have decided to switch to LNG recently. In one fill, a 55-tonne payload powered by LNG can go up to 1,000 km so we can cover a good area. We have deployed 129 LNG-powered trailers at our terminals located in Chennai, Vadodara, Mumbai, Nagpur, Tughlakabad and Khatuwas. This is the largest such deployment by any container train operator in the country. Orders for 100 more LNG trucks and trailers have already been placed. We have signed an agreement with IOCL, IGL and GAIL for developing LNG infrastructure at our terminals across the country.

> TILL RECENTLY, WE WERE USING JUST DIESEL VEHICLES. WE HAVE DECIDED TO SWITCH TO LNG

Simultaneously, the company is discussing the possibility of having electric vehicles (EVs) in the future. We are also getting into niche warehousing by setting up the first net-zero warehouse with 1,39,000 sq ft area at Sriperumbudur near Chennai.

What's the guidance on the capex over the next few years? What will be the major focus areas from the investment point of view?

We are planning to set up around 34 new terminals in the next 3-5 years, taking our total terminal count to 100 terminals across the country. In the current fiscal, the capex allocation is around ₹860 crore. In the next 3-4 years, the capex will be around ₹800-900 crore per annum.

The focus areas for capex investment include development of multi-modal logistics parks, upgrading the IT framework, acquisition of special-purpose heavy capacity containers, container handling equipment (diesel and electric), LNG trucks and high-capacity rolling stocks. CONCOR is planning to add around 200 rakes over the next five years.

CONCOR has reassessed the useful life of its wagons and extended their lifespan from 15 to 30 years. How will this help the company?

As per the Railway finance code, the average life of container wagons is 35 years. Closer to the end of this codal life, the condition of wagons is examined by the railway workshops, and based on such examination, either the wagon is continued in service or is condemned.

CONCOR was considering a life of only 15 years for wagons, taking a cue from the schedule of the Companies Act. However, CONCOR's wagons are manufactured by railway standards, run over the Indian Railways system and are maintained and condemned by Indian Railways workshops. Therefore, the life of CONCOR's wagons should be governed by the relevant code. To remain on the conservative side, for the purpose of financial analysis and depreciation life of CONCOR's wagons can safely be adopted as 30 years.

Market analysts see a weak volume outlook over the next two years. What is your take on the volumes scenario, both for the domestic and export-import markets?

While we are closely following the various geopolitical developments across the globe and their impact on the container logistics industry, we are hopeful of a growth of around 10% in the Exim segment and around 20% in domestic business in FY26.

EXPERTS SAY APPEAL PROCESS MAY NOT TAKE LONG

Trump tariffs ruling may help India in BTA talks

- Exporters wait for clarity to emerge

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, May 29

THE US COURT ruling declaring the reciprocal tariffs, imposed by President Donald Trump, as illegal has not sparked much celebration among Indian exporters. However, experts believe the decision could strengthen India's position in the ongoing negotiations for a Bilateral Trade Agreement (BTA) with the US.

According to SC Ralhan, president of the Federation of Indian Export Organisations (FIEO), court orders take time to be implemented. However, it remains to be seen how the Trump administration will respond to the ruling. "It will take 2-3 days for clarity to emerge, but it looks like a good sign for India," he said. After the US Court of International Trade ruled that former President Donald Trump's "Liberation Day" tariffs were illegal under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA), the Trump administration filed an appeal against the order.

The appeal process could reach the US Supreme Court. In the meantime, the US can continue to collect the additional 10% baseline duties and, after July 9, impose full reciprocal tariffs. The court ruled that the law cited by former President Trump did not grant him the authority to impose such sweeping import taxes.

Some experts feel that the process of appeal should not take long, and things would be clearer in a month or so. "With the Trump tariffs standing on shaky legal ground, India must pause and reassess its negotiation strategy before committing to a pact that could disproportionately favour US interests," founder of Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) Ajay Srivastava, said.

The US court orders also create problems for negotiators who are working on trade agreements with the US. Director-general and CEO of FIEO Ajay Sahai said: "Now, negotiators with the US are working with high reciprocal tariffs in mind and seeking to reduce or eliminate them. If reciprocal tariffs go, then the US base tariff for them for negotiations would be the most favoured nation (MFN) tariff of 2.5%."

While the Trump administration has postponed reimposing the country-specific tariffs, it is actively pressuring countries to make concessions, including unilateral tariff cuts and expanded purchases of US goods, to avoid these tariffs.

Under this pressure, the United Kingdom signed a bilateral trade agreement on May 8, 2025, cutting tariffs on over 2,500 US products, removing duty on the US ethanol and increasing Boeing purchases while the US offered tariff cuts on fewer than 50 UK products, most only reduced to the baseline 10% (not zero).

"India is reportedly preparing to eliminate tariffs on thousands of products, including automobiles and agriculture, open its government procurement market, weaken intellectual property and data laws to benefit US tech and pharma companies, and allow more foreign market access, including approving Starlink's satellite internet, mostly as one-sided concessions," Srivastava added.

LEGAL OBSTACLE

- Till the appeal process is in Supreme Court, the US can continue to collect the additional 10% baseline duties
- The US court orders could create problems for negotiators who are working on a trade deal

- The Trump administration is actively pressuring countries to make concessions, including unilateral tariff cuts
- The United Kingdom signed a bilateral trade agreement with the US on May 8

MSP benefit eludes paddy growers

● Purchases under scheme reach only 17.3% farmers

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, May 29

DESPITE THE GOVERNMENT'S effort to boost grain purchase, only 17.3% of the country's paddy farmers have benefited from procurement operations in the three years through 2023-24, a report by the Commission for Agricultural Costs and Prices (CACP) has said.

"While in Punjab (94%), Telangana (76%) and Chhattisgarh (58.8%), farmers benefited from minimum support price (MSP) purchase operations by Food Corporation of India (FCI) and state agencies while in Odisha (33.7%), West Bengal (15.6%), Uttar Pradesh (5.8%) and Bihar (4.1%) coverage of farmers was low during three years ending with 2023-24," the CACP' price policy for kharif crops (2025-26) report stated.

"In Assam, Karnataka, Jharkhand and Bihar less than 5% paddy farmers benefited from procurement," the commission, which recommends MSP of all the 22 notified crops, has noted.

In terms of states, share in rice procurement against their marketable surplus, Punjab (92.4%), Haryana (74.1%), Chhattisgarh (73.8%), Odisha (57.8%) and Telangana (50.1%) have significantly higher share while West Bengal (19%) and Uttar Pradesh (30%) have much lower share.

West Bengal and Uttar Pradesh, country's top two rice producing states, accounted for only 9.4% and 11.8% of total marketed surplus of rice while their share in procurement was much lower at 3.7% and 7.4%, respectively, according to CACP. West Bengal and Uttar Pradesh, top two rice producing states, contribute 23.7% of total rice production in the country in 2023-24.

"This calls for concerted efforts to strengthen procurement operations in states like Bihar, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh and Tamil Nadu," the commission said, adding that efforts should be made to improve storage and warehousing infrastructure as well as institutional mechanisms to increase procurement in these states.

Meanwhile, CACP has stated that the number of farmers under paddy procurement rose during FY17and FY21, and reached a record level of 13.1 million. However, a steady decline was observed from 2021-22 onwards and the total number of beneficiary farmers was about 11 million in 2023-24, a decline of around 19% from FY22 and is attributed to high market prices, the commission stated.

PUNJAB ON TOP

- Punjab at 94% leads where most farmers have benefited from paddy procurement under MSP
- The coverage was lowest in Odisha (33.7%), West Bengal (15.6%) and UP (5.8%)
- Punjab (92.4%) also leads in share in rice procurement against their marketable surplus

- Key contributors to central pool rice stock include Punjab, Haryana, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Odisha, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana

Nano urea push hit by slow adoption

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, May 29

FOUR YEARS AFTER the launch of nano urea and nano-DAP (diammonium phosphate) later on, their adoption among farmers has not been as fast as expected.

"Adoption of nano-fertilisers is not as fast as expected," U S Awasthi, managing director, Indian Farmers Fertiliser Cooperative (IFFCO) said after the annual general meeting of the company. IFFCO will introduce nano Zinc and copper in liquid soon.

Against the current total annual manufacturing capacity of 289.5 million bottles (500 ml each) of nano-fertiliser, the cooperative major sold 26.5 million and 9.7 million bottles of nano urea plus and nano-DAP respectively in FY25.

"The sale volume is equivalent to 1.2 million tonne (MT) of conventional urea and 0.48 MT of conventional DAP," according to a statement by the cooperative.

According to industry sources, the large-scale adoption of nano variants of urea and DAP, may take at least three more years. The government has been giving priority to nano fertilisers with a view to cutting extensive use of highly subsidised conventional fertilisers.

In June 2021, IFFCO launched nano urea in liquid form as an alternative to conventional urea. In April, 2023 the fertiliser cooperative major had launched nano-DAP.

US court blocks Trump tariffs

"THAT USE IS impermissible not because it is unwise or ineffective, but because (federal law) does not allow it."

An early rally in the dollar also fizzled and the greenback was about 0.4% lower against a basket of major trading partner currencies.

The judges also ordered the Trump administration to issue new orders reflecting the permanent injunction within 10 days. The Trump administration minutes later filed a notice of appeal and questioned the authority of the court.

The court invalidated with immediate effect all of Trump's orders on tariffs since January that were rooted in the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA), a law meant to address "unusual and extraordinary" threats during a national emergency.

The court was not asked to address some industry-specific tariffs Trump has issued on automobiles, steel and aluminum, using a different statute.

The decisions of the Manhattan-based Court of International Trade, which hears disputes involving international trade and customs laws, can be appealed to the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in Washington, DC, and ultimately the US Supreme Court.

Companies of all sizes have been whipsawed by Trump's swift imposition of tariffs and sudden reversals as they seek to manage supply chains, production, staffing and prices.

A White House spokesperson said US trade deficits with other countries constituted "a national emergency that has decimated American communities, left our workers behind, and weakened our defense industrial base —facts that the court did not dispute".

"It is not for unelected judges to decide how to properly address a national emergency," Kush Desai, the spokesperson, said in a statement.

The ruling, if it stands, blows a giant hole through Trump's strategy to use steep tariffs to wring concessions from trading partners. It creates deep uncertainty around multiple simultaneous negotiations with the EU, China and many other countries. However, analysts at Goldman Sachs noted the order does not block sector-specific levies and there were other legal avenues for Trump to impose across-the-board and country-specific tariffs.

"This ruling represents a setback for the administration's tariff plans and increases uncertainty but might not change the final outcome for most major US trading partners," analyst Alec Phillips wrote in a note.

Trump has promised Americans the tariffs would draw manufacturing jobs back to US shores and shrink a $1.2 trillion US goods trade deficit, which were among his central campaign promises.

Without the instant leverage provided by tariffs, the Trump administration would have to find new forms of leverage or take a slower approach to negotiations with trading partners.

Initial reaction among Asian policymakers was muted, with Japan's economy minister saying he would examine the details of the ruling, while the Bank of Korea said it saw the effective tariff rate on South Korean exports under the ruling falling to 9.7% from 13.3%.

Hong Kong's financial secretary said the court decision would "at least bring President Trump to reason".

The ruling came in a pair of lawsuits, one filed by the nonpartisan Liberty Justice Center on behalf of five small US businesses that import goods from countries targeted by the duties and the other by 12 US states.

The companies, which range from a New York wine and spirits importer to a Virginia-based maker of educational kits and musical instruments, have said the tariffs will hurt their ability to do business.

"There is no question here of narrowly tailored relief; if the challenged Tariff Orders are unlawful as to Plaintiffs they are unlawful as to all," the judges wrote in their decision.

At least five other legal challenges to the tariffs are pending.

Rate cut season may get longer

THE REPORT HIGHLIGHTS a series of supportive factors, including a revival in private consumption, strengthening balance sheets of both banks and corporates, accommodative financial conditions, and a persistent push by the government towards capital expenditure. These elements are expected to underpin India's economic momentum well into the next fiscal.

The inflation outlook has improved markedly, driven by multiple favourable developments, including easing global supply chain disruptions, declining international commodity prices, and expectations of a robust agricultural output on back of an above-normal southwest monsoon. Headline inflation eased by 73 basis points, settling at 4.6% in the current fiscal.

The RBI report said that inflation dipped below the target level in both February and March 2025, largely due to a sharp decline in food prices.

The central bank's commitment to maintaining financial stability, anchoring inflation expectations, and supporting sustainable economic growth is evident in its report. With inflation under control, the RBI is likely to focus on growth.

The other reason is the positive interest rate differentials and the RBI allowing the rupee to appreciate, making room for rate cuts. If the RBI hadn't allowed the rupee to appreciate, justifying rate cuts would have been challenging.

However, having come off the lows of 87-88, the rupee now around 84.5-85.5 provides flexibility to accommodate depreciation without significant concerns, allowing for a more dovish monetary policy stance.

Last week, the RBI's bulletin, too, reported the Real Effective Exchange Rate (REER) at 100.8 as of April 2025, down from 101.50 in March 2025 and 103.23 in April 2024, indicating the rupee is fairly valued. REER above 100 usually indicates the currency to be overvalued. With inflation coming down further, economists see the REER declining below 100.

A strong currency and favourable inflation will give the monetary policy committee sufficient room to cut rates for supporting economic growth.

Trade talks with US to resume in Delhi next week

EARLIER SPEAKING AT the same event, special secretary in the department of commerce Rakesh Agrawal and chief negotiator for US trade talks said, "we are progressing well, and hopefully, in these tough times also, we will be able to navigate and come out with good outcomes sooner than later."

India is pinning a lot of hope on the BTA to give an impetus to its sagging goods exports. Recently, the finance ministry said in its monthly economic report that the trade pact with the world's largest economy would help "flip headwinds into tailwinds".

The US team visit comes close on the heels of the visit of Indian negotiators and Goyal to the US last week. While negotiators were talking, Goyal met US commerce secretary Howard Lutnick twice during the course of the week to give a political direction to the negotiations.

While the talks started with the aim of concluding the first tranche of the BTA by the autumn of this year, the reciprocal tariffs and its 90-day suspension has steered the discussions on having an interim trade deal.

There is a natural synergy between India and the US and companies from both sides will be able to work together and forge natural alliances, Agrawal said. "There are only a few areas where we actually compete. Most of the areas are where we can complement each other. If we can do a good trade deal, this can actually be a defining partnership in the trade arena, and that's what is the intent behind approaching this bilateral trade agreement," he said.

Speaking on the current disruption in world trade and supply chains, Agrawal said, "I think India is well poised, because, though it is a huge challenging situation, but I think for India, it's a huge opportunity. We are a global, big market and growing one. One of the key drivers of global growth is also going to come from India. We are going to wield much more weight in the next two decades in global growth." "Apart from the big market, India is also a decently big producer. Also, we may have 15% of our GDP only coming from manufacturing, but we do have a good enough manufacturing base which produces the Gross Value Addition of around $ 500 billion per year. It's not small. It may not be like China or us, but it's not small," he said.

Flipkart parent adds another ₹2,225 cr to its wallet

THE IPO, EXPECTED next year, could value the e-commerce firm between $60 billion and $70 billion.

Currently valued at around $36 billion, Flipkart has been witnessing a surge in business momentum. At a recent internal event, Flipkart Group CEO Kalyan Krishnamurthy said that a strong rise in customer orders, growing at 20-25% and expected to reach 30% by June. He also highlighted a sixfold increase in investments in artificial intelligence (AI) as part of the company's drive to stay future-ready.

Flipkart is also doubling down on its quick commerce initiative, Flipkart Minutes, with plans to establish 800 dark stores by the end of this year. Meanwhile, Myntra, Flipkart's fashion-focused subsidiary, has made its international foray by launching a direct-to-consumer venture in Singapore, targeting the Indian diaspora.

PHOENIX MALL OF ASIA STORE EXPECTED TO OPEN LATER THIS YEAR

Apple leases 8,000-sq ft unit in Bengaluru for third India store

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, May 29

TECH MAJOR APPLE has leased 8,000 square feet of retail space at Bengaluru's Phoenix Mall of Asia for its third outlet in the country, industry sources have told FE.

It will pay an annual rent of about ₹2.09 crore — ₹17.4 lakh per month — with a revenue share of about 2% for the first three years of operation, sources said. The revenue share is likely to increase to about 2.5-3% of its top line thereafter. The lease agreement is for about 10-11 years, sources said.

While the Bengaluru outlet will be opened later this calendar year, the move marks a step-up for the iPhone maker in terms of its retail strategy in the country, sources said. Apple already has a store each in Mumbai and Delhi, launched in April 2023, paying around ₹40-42 lakh per month in rent. Annually, the Mumbai store's rent works out to about ₹5.04 crore and the Delhi store's ₹4.8 crore. Lease agreements are for about 10-11 years each, sources added.

Apple's chief executive officer Tim Cook had said in an investor call earlier this month that the company proposed to set up four more stores in India, starting with Bengaluru and Pune (a store each) and additional stores in Mumbai and Delhi-NCR.

"We set a number of quarterly records in countries and regions across the world, including India," Cook said. "In retail, in addition to the two stores we opened during the (first) quarter (of CY2025), we're also looking forward to a new retail store in the UAE, the arrival of the online store in Saudi Arabia, and new retail stores in India starting later this year," Cook said.

The Bengaluru Apple store will be the smallest in terms of size compared to the existing two stores in Mumbai (20,800 sq ft) and Delhi (8,417 sq ft), persons in the know said. However, the destination — Phoenix Mall of Asia — is upscale in line with Mumbai's Jio World Drive in Bandra-Kurla Complex and Delhi's Select Citywalk in the Saket area, which is home to premium and luxury brands.

Much like in Delhi and Mumbai, Apple has also provided the lessor with a list of competing brands that prohibits them from occupying nearby retail stores or displaying their ads near its outlet in Bengaluru. The list includes names such as Google, Amazon, Facebook, and Microsoft.

RETAIL EXPANSION

- For its Bengaluru store, Apple will pay an annual rent of about ₹2.09 cr with a revenue share of about 2% for first three years
- It currently has a store each in Mumbai and Delhi
- Annually, the Mumbai store's rent works out to about ₹5.04 crore and the Delhi store's ₹4.8 crore

The Bengaluru store will be the smallest in size: Mumbai store spans 20,800 sq ft, Delhi store 8,417 sq ft

DoT seeks Trai views on spectrum pricing

THE GOVERNMENT HAS approached telecom regulator Trai for recommendations on reserve price and other modalities for the auction of at least nine mainstream spectrum bands, including 800 MHz, 900 MHz and 1800 MHz, that are primarily used for transmitting mobile phone voice and data signals.

Sources told PTI that Trai has been asked for its views on 2500 MHz, 3300 MHz and 26 GHz bands as well. The department of telecommunications (DoT) has also urged the telecom regulator to offer fresh recommendations for the auction of spectrum in 600 MHz bands. In the last auction in 2024, this particular band had not been put on the block as it did not find any takers in the 2022 auctions.

On Wednesday, Trai began consultations on another important piece of connectivity — the backhaul spectrum. It floated a consultation paper for assignment of spectrum in six bands traditionally used for microwave backhaul (between mobile towers), as the regulator sought stakeholder views on aspects like demand, terms and conditions, and charges. —PTI

Razorpay parent shifts domicile to India

FE BUREAU
Bengaluru, May 29

FINTECH UNICORN RAZORPAY, backed by Y Combinator and Peak XV, has completed the process of shifting its parent company's domicile to India from the US.

Razorpay had initiated the process to move its parent entity to India in May 2023, ahead of its plans to list on the Indian bourses. Razorpay co-founder & MD Shashank Kumar said, "Yes, we've officially completed our reverse flip, and we couldn't be more proud. This move marks a pivotal milestone in Razorpay's journey. It is more than a structural move, it's a powerful signal of belief — in India's economic future, regulatory ecosystem, and in the incredible potential of homegrown innovation."

"This move reflects our deep-rooted confidence that India is no longer just a great place to build from - it's the best place to lead from," he added. The reverse flip involved merging Razorpay's US-registered parent entity with its Indian subsidiary, Razorpay Software India. This restructuring consolidates the company's operations under Indian jurisdiction. The decision mirrors a trend among Indian startups, including PhonePe, Groww and Zepto, to shifted their domiciles to India.

FIRM CROSSES ANNUAL ₹50,000-CR REVENUE MILESTONE FOR FIRST TIME

Bajaj Auto beats estimates, profit up 6% to ₹2,049 crore

GEETA NAIR
Pune, May 29

BAJAJ AUTO ON Thursday posted a 6% year-on-year increase in standalone net profit for the January-March quarter at ₹2,049.3 crore, marginally above Bloomberg's consensus estimate of ₹2,013.1 crore. Revenues from operations also rose 6% year-on-year to ₹12,148 crore, exceeding the Bloomberg forecast of ₹12,113 crore.

The company reported an Ebitda of ₹2,451 crore for the quarter, reflecting a 6% increase, while the Ebitda margin expanded by 10 basis points to 20.2%. For the full year, Bajaj Auto crossed the ₹50,000-crore revenue milestone for the first time, with margins consistently above 20%. The company's performance was buoyed by a sharp recovery in exports, which grew 20% year-on-year. Growth was also seen across premium motorcycles, electric scooters, and electric commercial vehicles. However, the suspension of KTM exports during the quarter prevented overall revenues from achieving a double-digit growth.

Rakesh Sharma, executive director at Bajaj Auto, said that export volumes improved across 26 of the company's top 30 international markets, with broad-based recovery across Latin America, Africa, and Asia.

Domestically, the electric vehicle portfolio delivered strong results. Bajaj Auto doubled its electric two-wheeler and three-wheeler market share in the March quarter. The Chetak electric scooter, boosted by the newly launched 35 series, led the segment with volumes more than doubling year-on-year and an exit market share of 27%. In the electric three-wheeler category, Bajaj Auto's market share climbed from 13% in FY24 to 33% in FY25 and reached 38% in the first two months of FY26. Meanwhile, the company retained its dominant 75% share in the internal combustion engine three-wheeler space.

In the domestic motorcycle segment, growth was slower but showed signs of revival through targeted product updates and pricing adjustments. Sharma said the recently launched electric three-wheeler model 'GoGo' contributed to double-digit growth in that segment.

Bajaj Auto has altered its strategy for the upcoming CNG Freedom motorcycle, opting to focus on regions with higher CNG infrastructure such as Maharashtra, Gujarat, Kerala, and Delhi, instead of pursuing a nationwide rollout.

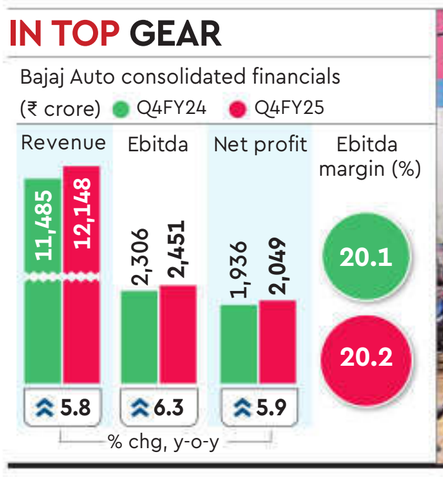

In FY26, Sharma expects a market environment similar to FY25, marked by fluctuations and modest overall growth. He projected an industry growth range of 5-7%, with the 125cc-and-above motorcycle segment expected to outperform, growing at twice the rate of the broader market. The 100cc category is anticipated to remain flat. If supply chain constraints are resolved, the electric vehicle segment could grow 20-25% during the year.

China's export curbs on rare earth magnets

Sharma flagged a looming risk to the industry — a shortage of rare earth magnets — due to export restrictions by China. These magnets are critical for electric vehicle production, and with China controlling 85% of its global supply, disruptions are imminent. Around 30 applications from Indian companies for magnet supplies are still pending with Chinese authorities. Without relief, Sharma warned, the EV industry could face production halts by July 2025, with no viable alternatives currently available.

Tiwari bought the 22,572-square feet sea-facing properties across 32nd-to-35th floors of the 40-storey Naman Xana residential complex. At more than ₹2.83 lakh per sq ft on a carpet-area basis, this is second-most expensive residential deal in the country in recent years, behind the one made by Kotak Mahindra Bank founder Uday Kotak. Early this month, Kotak bought eight apartments in 19 Shiv Sagar — a three-storey property in Worli — for ₹131.55 crore. One of the properties was bought at a rate of ₹2.89 lakh per sq ft, according to reports. Earlier this year, Kotak bought 12 apartments in the same complex for ₹201 crore.

Tiwari could not be contacted, while Naman Xana developer Shree Naman Group did not respond to queries on the purchase.

Worli has seen a number of luxury residential deals in the recent years. Last year, Metro Brands promoters bought a property worth ₹405 crore in Shree Ram Urban Palais Royale. According to sources, Shalu Real Estate, where Godrej Group executive director Tanya Dubash is a director, bought a duplex apartment of 10,436 sq ft in Naman Xana for ₹225 crore at around ₹2.16 lakh per sq ft.

Parts shortage slows e-bus manufacturing

SWARAJ BAGGONKAR
Mumbai, May 29

OLECTRA GREENTECH'S INABILITY to ensure timely delivery of electric buses — which prompted the Maharashtra government to issue directions for cancelling a 5,150-vehicle order — stems from an impediment that ails the entire sector: sparse supply of components, particularly of chassis and battery.

The delivery numbers of major e-bus makers affirm the crisis. Olectra Greentech delivered only 972 e-buses in FY25 against a target of 2,000-2,500, Tata Motors dispatched 839 e-buses in the last three quarters of FY25, and JBM Group delivered 572 e-buses in the entire 2024.

Industry players say companies have the capacity to ramp up production but they are hamstrung by supply chain constrains. Though the industry is sitting on a large order book of around 20,000-25,000 vehicles, supplies have been on the decline for several months. In FY25, the country's electric bus sales stood at around 3,100 units – around 14% down compared to FY24. "The entire industry has been going through the supply chain constraint regarding chassis and battery, which is causing delays," a senior official of Olectra Greentech said in an analyst call after the March quarter results.

The Hyderabad-based company is sitting on orders of more than 10,000 vehicles, the largest pending order in India. More than half of its order book is from the Maharashtra transport department. Earlier this week, Maharashtra's transport minister said officials had been directed to cancel the 5,150-vehicle order over missed delivery deadlines. The company, however, said it was yet to receive any official order. Supply chain constraints have affected Olectra as well as it peers such as Tata Motors and JBM Group. Industry players expect the situation to normalise from the September quarter.

Walmart International won't rush Flipkart to profitability

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, May 29

WALMART INTERNATIONAL, A division of Walmart Inc, is taking a measured approach to Flipkart's growth, prioritising market share and long-term opportunity over short-term profitability. Speaking at the Bernstein 41st Annual Strategic Decisions Conference, Walmart International president and CEO Kathryn McLay said the company is committed to scaling Flipkart sustainably rather than rushing towards immediate returns.

"We are not so focused on profitability that we would trade off market share and growth for the future," McLay said. "We will get there at the right time." Her comments reflect Walmart's broader strategy of investing in core growth markets like India, China and Mexico, where it sees significant potential. In particular, McLay pointed to India's $1 trillion e-commerce opportunity, driven by a vast population and low current online penetration of just 9%. Since Walmart's acquisition of Flipkart in 2018, the platform has made notable progress, with key categories such as mobile phones, electronics, and apparel already turning profitable. Yet the company continues to pour resources into high-growth segments, especially quick commerce, in order to expand its market presence. Quick commerce now accounts for about 20% of India's e-commerce sector and is growing at a rapid 50% annually.

Flipkart has built 250 fulfilment centres to power its "Minutes" delivery business, shifting from one- to two-day delivery to ultra-fast services. This transformation, McLay said, is part of a broader multi-pronged strategy that includes strengthening Flipkart's core offerings, enhancing the Myntra platform, and expanding its digital advertising arm. Myntra, Flipkart's fashion and beauty subsidiary, is emerging as a standout success. McLay noted its pioneering use of generative AI to deliver hyper-personalised shopping experiences.

Coca-Cola expects billion-dollar brand club to swell in India

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, May 29

THE WORLD'S LARGEST beverage company, Coca-Cola, expects more brands to join the billion-dollar club in India, executive vice president and chief operating officer Henrique Braun said on Thursday. The company has three billion-dollar brands in India — Thums Up, Maaza and Sprite — with the market being vibrant and demand resilient, Braun said.

The company, which has seven out of top 10 global brands in the India beverage market, will continue to develop more brands here, he said.

"We have today 30 billion-dollar brands (globally), of which 15 were built organically and 15 we acquired and built into billion-dollar brands over the years," Braun said. "I have no doubt that we will have another one coming in the future because we believe in the vibrance of the country and the industry," he said.

According to industry insiders, Coke is likely to join the billion-dollar brand club in the Indian market soon. Also, Limca — the lime and lemony drink acquired from Ramesh Chauhan in 1993 along with Maaza and Thums Up — has crossed revenue of ₹2,800 crore in 2024, the company said on Wednesday.

Braun also said that he saw opportunity for demand creation in India, given that packaged beverages continued to be an under-penetrated market here. India is Coca-Cola's fifth-largest market by volume. But carbonated drinks are also taxed heavily, attracting 28% goods and services tax (GST) and a cess of 12%. Braun also said that the company is putting the building blocks in place for the future. "India is very important. It's our fifth growth market in terms of volume. And we believe that we're building the right foundations to have sustainable growth for the future," he added.

'We're driving business impact through agentic AI'

Wipro on Thursday launched its global Wipro Innovation Network to accelerate co-innovation with clients using cutting-edge technologies. The initiative brings together global expertise to address complex industry challenges, focusing on agentic AI, robotics with embodied AI, quantum computing, digital ledger tech, and quantum-safe cyber resilience. Sandhya Arun*, chief technology officer, Wipro, spoke to* Padmini Dhruvaraj about how this initiative will leverage Wipro's broader innovation ecosystem, spanning Innovation Labs, Wipro Ventures, Topcoder, academic alliances, and a global talent pool. Excerpts:

You mentioned various technology networks like quantum and agentic. Which one is driving monetisation the most?

At this stage, it's agentic enterprises. We see strong traction with robotics and embodied AI in some industries. Blockchain is gaining traction in BFSI (banking, financial services and insurance), especially in Europe. Cyber resilience, AI safety, and quantum safety are also becoming key as enterprises aim to maintain trust despite varying maturity levels in these technologies.

Can you share something innovative Wipro is doing in agentics beyond the market?

We have a strategic approach called AI-powered Wipro to deliver better for clients, operate better internally, and change the game. Agentic AI is being absorbed into IT to improve productivity, efficiency, and quality. We're also transforming enablement functions like HR, finance, and marketing. We have solutions like Agentic AI SDLC (software development lifecycle) — evolving from human-led work to fully autonomous AI with human oversight. AI in IT operations is gaining traction too, with agents doing more decision-making and preventative actions. Internally, our marketing and CFO teams use agentic AI; recruitment is next.

We're also deploying unique solutions like Inspect AI, for example, in oil & gas flare monitoring via drones.

What internal efficiencies are you seeing from agentic AI when delivering to clients and what efficiencies are clients seeing?

It varies by technology and client. We see 20-35% effort savings, combining automation, agentic AI, and strong processes. We focus less on productivity and more on developer experience and effort reduction. Removing mundane tasks enables developers to focus on higher-value work. True enterprise value lies in business impact, not just productivity numbers.

Quantum computing still seems far from being business-ready. When Wipro says it's quantum ready, what does that mean?

We're ready in terms of talent and capability, with active special interest groups and joint innovation efforts. Many clients were caught off guard by rapid AI advances, so we aim to keep eyes wide open with quantum. Quantum as a service is already being used commercially by a few clients, for use cases like drug discovery, material science, and supply chain optimisation, through hyperscalers like IBM, AWS, Microsoft, and Google.

You've spoken about tangible benefits from innovation networks. Can you quantify them? Are they for just efficiency or more?

It's business impact, new revenue streams, customer retention, cost takeout, operational efficiency, even brand equity. The Wipro Innovation Network is about delivering business value through client-centric, strategic co-innovation.

As a CTO, do you think generative AI is misunderstood, especially in the context of workforce fears? What is Wipro doing differently?

Yes, there is fear psychosis. But GenAI is an amazing technology. Humans adapt, like we did with computers or mobile phones. Technology is about building tools for better lives. At Wipro, we believe the key skill is learning how to learn. Tech will evolve regardless, so we focus on responsible AI, governance, and using these tools to deliver value through client-centric innovation. Humans remain central.

RBI ANNUAL REPORT 2024-25

Income receives $13-billion foreign exchange impetus

- Net income rises to ₹2.69 lakh crore, up 27.5% on year

AGENCIES
Mumbai, May 29

THE RESERVE BANK of India's (RBI) gains from foreign exchange transactions surged nearly 33% to ₹1.11 lakh crore ($13 billion) for the fiscal ended March, pushing up its income sharply, its annual report showed on Thursday.

Net income rose to ₹2.69 lakh crore, up 27.5% on year. Interest income from foreign securities also saw a sharp rise to ₹97,007 crore, from ₹65,328 crore in the previous year.

The size of the RBI's balance sheet grew 8.2% to ₹76.25 lakh crore.

Increase on assets side was due to rise in gold, domestic investments and foreign investments by 52.09%, 14.32% and 1.70%, respectively, said the annual report.

"The year ended with an overall surplus of ₹2.68 lakh crore, against ₹2.11 lakh crore in the previous year, resulting in an increase of 27.37%," it said.

The balance sheet of the RBI reflects activities carried out in pursuance of its various functions including issuance of currency as well as monetary policy and reserve management objectives.

On liabilities side, the RBI said, expansion was due to increase in notes issued, revaluation accounts, and other liabilities by 6.03%, 17.32% and 23.31%, respectively.

Domestic assets constituted 25.73% while foreign currency assets, gold (including gold deposit and gold held in India) and loans and advances to financial institutions outside India constituted 74.27% of total assets as on March 31, 2025, compared with 23.31% and 76.69%, respectively, as on March 31, 2024.

A provision of ₹44,861.70 crore was made and transferred to the Contingency Fund.

"In FY25, the surge in dollar selling was due to FY25 balance of payments turning negative," said Gaura Sen Gupta, chief economist at IDFC First Bank. "In FY26, we expect balance of payments to be a small positive. Hence the quantum of dollar selling is expected to be moderate."

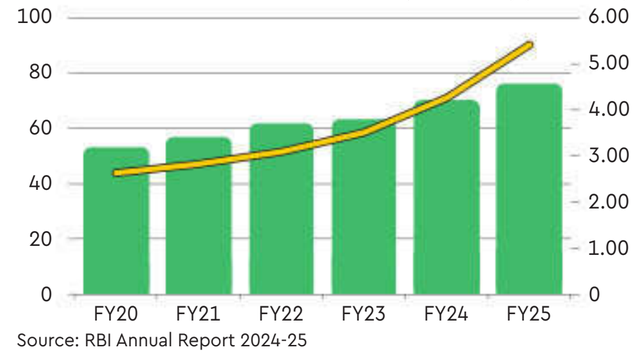

Last week, the RBI approved the transfer of a record ₹2.69 lakh crore as surplus to the government for last financial year as it opted to raise its contingency risk buffer under a revised economic capital framework.

If excess provisioning was not done, the dividend would have been about ₹3.5 lakh crore, said Sen Gupta. She expects the RBI's dividend for this fiscal year to remain similar to levels seen in the previous two years, as interest income will remain substantial and provisioning stable.

For the last fiscal, the RBI's total expenditure rose 7.76% to ₹69,714 crore, largely due to higher interest spends, and costs related to employees and printing of notes.

The central bank primarily invests in bonds and deposits issued by other sovereigns, such as the US treasuries. It also books gains on its foreign currency assets by selling them at current market prices, having originally valued them at historical purchase prices.

ECBs rise fivefold to $18.7 billion

SAIKAT NEOGI
New Delhi, May 29

NET EXTERNAL COMMERCIAL borrowings (ECBs) rose more than five times to $18.7 billion in FY25, compared with $3.6 billion a year ago, the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) annual report for 2024-25 showed.

The appetite for overseas loans was caused by a decline in costs of foreign funds, and lenders, especially non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), increased tapping this market after the central bank revised the capital norms in 2023.

Data from the annual report show that 45.3% of total inflows were used for on-lending/sub-lending and 16.3% for refinancing earlier ECBs. Just 10% of total inflows were utilised for new projects and around 6% for working capital needs.

The easing of monetary cycles, especially in advanced countries, has made ECBs an attractive option for NBFCs. The continued decline in the secured overnight financing rate since August 2024 has contributed to a reduction in the overall cost of ECBs. In January this year, the overall cost of ECBs declined by 129 bps compared with the year-ago period, data showed.

The RBI's decision in November 2023 to increase risk weights on bank funding to NBFCs prompted them to diversify funding sources. Even below 'AA'- rated NBFCs were able to raise funds from the offshore market.

Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Bank of Baroda, said net ECBs increased as interest rates were high in India and relatively lower overseas. "NBFCs accessed those markets more after capital norms were revised. Besides NBFCs, companies used the same for refinancing purposes."

Gaura Sengupta, chief economist, IDFC First Bank, said the rise in net ECB inflows reflects a move among borrowers, especially NBFCs, to diversify sources of funding.

Anitha Rangan, economist, Equirus Securities, said the rise in ECB was primarily driven by a moderating external rate environment, not just in the US. "Indian issuers are using the opportunity to diversify and get more foothold in the external credit environment at a time when the Indian economy is showing very strong signs of resilience."

Fraud amount jumps three times

THE OVERALL NUMBER OF frauds, including those related to loan accounts and digital payments, jumped three times in FY25, primarily due to reclassification of 122 cases as per a Supreme Court order, the RBI said on Thursday. The fraud value jumped to ₹36,014 crore in FY25, from ₹12,230 crore in FY24, while the number of fraud cases went down to 23,953 in FY25 from 36,060 in FY24.

CBDC in circulation grows to ₹1k cr

THE VALUE OF CENTRAL bank digital currency (CBDC), or e-rupee, in circulation jumped to ₹1,016 crore at the end of March 2025, from ₹234 crore in the year-ago period. The RBI is exploring the commencement of CBDC pilots on cross-border payments, it said in the annual report without giving a timeline. The CBDC was first introduced in November 2022 initially with a wholesale pilot.

Particle boards from shredded notes

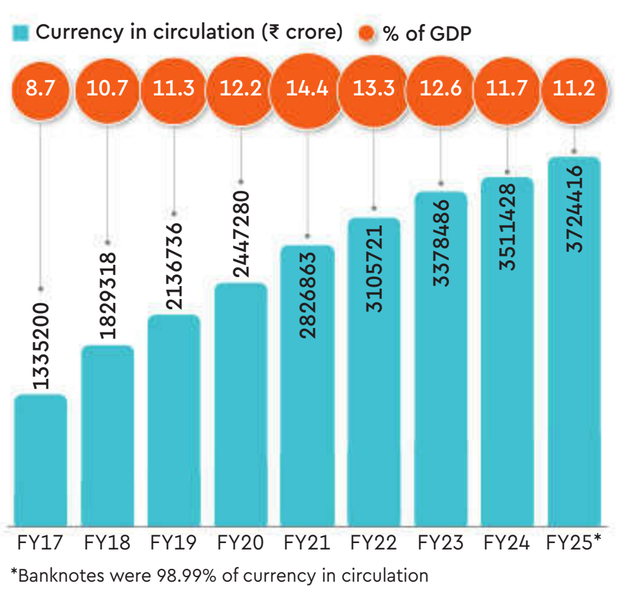

TO MAKE BANKNOTE DISPOSAL more environment-friendly, the RBI will use shredded banknotes for making particle boards and has started a process to empanel board manufacturers. The RBI said the quantum of banknote briquettes or compressed blocks of paper produced annually in India is hovered around 15,000 tonne, and it has been on the lookout for greener alternatives for disposal.

Currency in circulation falls to 11.2% of GDP

CURRENCY IN CIRCULATION (CIC), as a fraction of the GDP, has been on a steady decline since FY21, the Covid-hit year, reports Prasanta Sahu. From 14.4% that year, it declined to 11.2% in FY25, which is lower than the pre-demonetisation level, according to RBI data. This reflects the rise in UPI transactions.

However, in absolute terms, CIC continues to rise. After plunging headlong to 8.7% of the GDP in the year of demonetisation (FY17), CIC, even as a share of the GDP, had risen in the subsequent four years. The spurt in CIC in FY21 was due to the pandemic-induced increase in demand for cash for medical and other emergencies like lockdowns.

UPI share in digital payments ecosystem swells to 83.7%

FE BUREAU
Chennai, May 29

THE UNIFIED PAYMENTS Interface (UPI) continued to consolidate its dominance in India's digital payments ecosystem, accounting for 83.7% of the total transaction volume in FY25, up from 79.7% in FY24.

According to the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) annual report for FY25, UPI facilitated 185.8 billion transactions during the year, marking a 41% year-on-year increase. In value terms, UPI transactions rose to ₹261 trillion, up from ?200 trillion in FY24.

Overall digital payments in the country — which include transactions via payment systems, card networks, and prepaid payment instruments (PPIs) — grew 35% to 221.9 billion in FY25, from 164.4 billion transactions in FY24. In value terms, total digital payments surged 17.97% to ₹2,862 trillion.

"The success of UPI placed India in a leadership position with a share of 48.5% in global real-time payments by volume," the central bank noted.

Credit card transactions increased to 4.7 billion in FY25, from 3.5 billion in FY24, while debit card usage saw a sharp 29.5% decline, falling to 1.6 billion transactions. The share of digital transactions in the total volume of non-cash retail payments stood at 99.9% in FY25, slightly up from 99.8% in FY24.

The growth in digital payments during the year was aided by the Payments Infrastructure Development Fund by subsidising the availability of acceptance infrastructure, especially in Tier III to Tier VI cities. The number of point of sale terminals increased 24.7% to 10.1 million. UPI quick response (QR) codes jumped 91.5% to 658 million as on March 31, 2025.

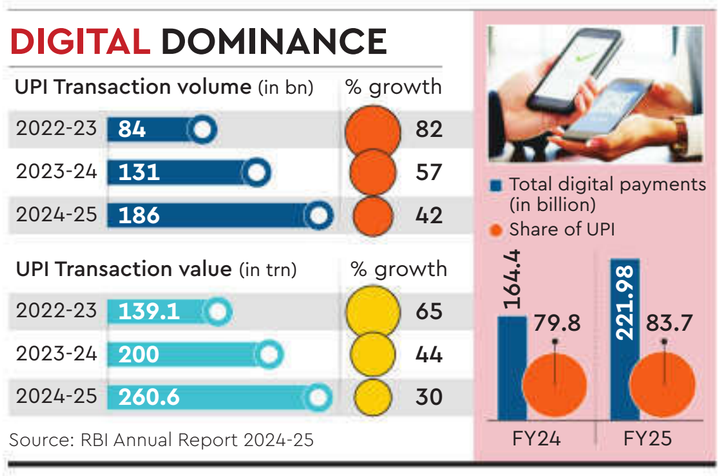

On international expansion, the RBI said it remains committed to extending UPI to 20 countries by 2028–29.

Acceptance of Indian UPI apps via QR codes has already been enabled in Bhutan, France, Mauritius, Nepal, Singapore, Sri Lanka, and the UAE, allowing Indian tourists, students, and business travellers to make merchant payments using their domestic UPI apps.

The RBI has also given a nod to NPCI International Payments (NIPL) to deploy UPI-like infrastructure in Namibia, Peru, Trinidad and Tobago, and Jamaica.

Additionally, it plans to explore Fast Payment System collaborations with countries in the European Union, the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC), and other multilateral frameworks.

● SHAJI VARGHESE, CHIEF EXECUTIVE, MUTHOOT FINCORP

'Goal is to double non-gold revenue share to 30% by FY28'

Muthoot FinCorp, the flagship company of the Muthoot Pappachan Group, aims to double the revenue share from its non-gold lending portfolio to 30% over the next three years. Chief executive Shaji Varghese speaks to Narayanan V about the diversification strategy, impact of the RBI's draft gold lending guidelines and more. Excerpts:

What led to the 20% decline in Q4 net profit?

Revenues for the quarter grew 23% year-on-year to ₹1,478.59 crore. However, this didn't translate into higher profits due to increased expenditure. Being the end of the financial year, we incurred higher marketing costs. We've also been expanding our capacity to meet future demand. Over the past 12 months, we added 200 new branches, taking the total number to 3,700 across the country. Employee costs associated with these new branches were fully reflected in Q4. These are productive investments, and we expect to see revenue benefits from next year. That said, our full-year net profit rose 40% to ₹787.15 crore in FY25.

What is your product diversification strategy?

Three years ago, 98% of our revenue came from the gold loan portfolio. At that time, we had set a target to bring 15% of our revenue from non-gold lending by 2025. We have now achieved that. Our next goal is to increase the non-gold revenue share to around 30% over the next three years, by March 2028. This will come through product diversification, and not by reducing the gold loan business.

Our target customer segment remains the same — lower and middle-income borrowers — but we are diversifying product offerings. For instance, we offer loans against property products for up to 15 years. We also offer digital loans ranging from six months to two years, and small unsecured business loans with tenures of up to three years. So, we're meeting different consumer needs through new and incremental products and services.

Are you seeing any impact of the RBI's draft gold lending guidelines?

Even if implemented in its current form, the draft guidelines won't affect growth prospects of gold-loan NBFCs. The RBI has brought clarity in areas like clearly categorising loans for consumption and productive purposes.

However, there are certain areas that need more clarity. The Association of Gold Loan Companies has made representations to the RBI seeking clarification. A key area of concern is the loan-to-value (LTV) calculation. Since gold loans typically follow a bullet repayment structure, the draft proposes inclusion of the entire interest payable over the loan tenure in the LTV cap. This would mean that customers would need to pledge more gold to borrow the same amount, which will effectively reduce their ability to raise funds.

From an NBFC perspective, the impact is limited as the rule creates a level playing field. But from a consumer standpoint, it is a disadvantage, as borrowers will need to bring in higher quantity of gold to avail of the same loan amount.

It's also important to note that LTV is already regulated and is based only on the bullion value — not on making charges or other costs. This means there's already a cushion built into the LTV. That's good for lenders, as it protects them in case of price corrections and improves recovery safety. But consumers may lose out in terms of the loan amount they can raise against gold.

Will purity certificates or proving ownership also be a challenge?

Not really. NBFCs like ours already carry out internal valuation and purity checks, so there's no challenge on that front. As for proof of ownership, we obtain a declaration from the customer. It's not in the form of a receipt, which isn't practical in India — and the regulator isn't asking for that either. We assess the purity ourselves and communicate it to the customer. Based on that assessment, we arrive at the LTV. Not every customer gets credit based on 916 purity (22 carat). If the gold is of lower purity, LTV is accordingly adjusted. That's also why we don't face losses during auctions as the valuation was agreed upon before disbursal of the loan.

EVEN IF IMPLEMENTED IN ITS CURRENT FORM, RBI'S DRAFT GUIDELINES WON'T AFFECT GROWTH PROSPECTS OF GOLD-LOAN NBFCs

LABORIOUS TASK

A particular dimension of Viksit Bharat is the urgency of raising labour productivity. This is very much an area where the private sector has an important role to play

Jolt for Trump tariff plan

Uncertainty will nevertheless continue as the US President is unlikely to back down

THE US COURT of International Trade (CIT) has delivered a major setback to President Donald Trump's weaponisation of tariffs to pressurise nations — especially those that registered persistent bilateral trade surpluses — to strike deals that are more favourable to the US. On Wednesday, a three-member panel of federal judges ruled that the US President had overstepped his authority to impose tariffs on nearly every country around the world. This ruling effectively blocks him from levying the steepest tariffs on China and other major trading partners as the federal law did not grant him "unbounded authority" to do so. Before Trump 2.0, no US president had invoked provisions of the International Emergency Economic Powers Act — intended to address "unusual and extraordinary" threats during a national emergency — to levy duties on virtually every nation. Tariffs are not part of this 1977 law. The CIT also said that the US Constitution provides Congress exclusive authority to regulate trade with other nations that is not overridden by the invocation of national emergency powers to impose tariffs to safeguard the US economy.

While this landmark ruling would doubtless be a relief to countries like India — that is scrambling to ink the first tranche of a bilateral trade deal to avert the threat of Trump's reciprocal tariffs — it is premature to uncork the bubbly. The global trade environment will remain highly uncertain as the US President is unlikely to back down. True to form, his administration immediately filed an appeal that questioned the authority of the CIT. The decisions of this Manhattan-based body can be appealed to the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in Washington and eventually land up in the Supreme Court that is packed with Trump's nominees. It bears mention that days before this ruling, key members of his administration like secretary of commerce Howard Lutnick, United States Trade Representative Jamieson Greer, secretary of treasury Scott Bessent, and secretary of state Marco Rubio told the CIT that an adverse ruling could imperil ongoing negotiations, stating that the ongoing ceasefire between India and Pakistan — which averted a full-scale war between nuclear powers — was achieved by Trump offering both nations greater trading access with the US.

The ruling of the CIT nevertheless provides breathing space for India to reassess its strategy to strike a deal that is currently being negotiated under fire. Trump, for his part, is not making it any easier with his gratuitous statements that India has "offered a deal where basically they are willing to literally charge us no tariffs". That is far from being the case although India has no doubt offered deep cuts in levies to provide greater market access for US goods while seeking to retain high tariffs on sensitive farm and dairy products. There is a need for similar strategic intent to ensure that we retain policy space on non-tariff barriers like licences, standards including quality control orders, and intellectual property rights. Taking lessons from our free trade agreement with the UK, there is no need to agree to rules that weaken our patents regime and threaten industry's ability to produce affordable generic drugs. Although reports indicate an interim deal is likely before June 25, there is absolutely no warrant to hasten our trade negotiations while the Trump administration's appeal against the historic CIT ruling winds its way through the legal system.

BEYOND THE BULL

AMENDMENT OF SECURITIES CONTRACTS (REGULATIONS) RULES BRINGS BOTH RELIEF AND OPPORTUNITY

Brokers get a side hustle

SANDEEP PAREKH
Managing partner, Finsec Law Advisors

INDIA'S BROKING INDUSTRY has long operated under a framework that restricted its ability to diversify or expand, despite evolving client expectations and the changing nature of financial services. New-age investors increasingly prefer platforms that offer a full range of financial services, beyond just stock trading. For decades, rules 8(1)(f) and 8(3)(f) of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Rules, 1957 (SCRR), imposed a blanket prohibition on brokers from engaging in any business outside securities or commodity derivatives. This regulatory architecture, rooted in a different era of market activity, came under increasing stress as new-age brokers evolved into multi-service platforms, competing not only with peers but also with fintechs, non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), and wealth managers.

In a significant move poised to recalibrate the regulatory perimeter for brokers, the Department of Economic Affairs (DEA) issued a gazetted notification dated May 19 amending rules 8(1)(f) and 8(3)(f). The amendment clarifies that investments made by brokers from their own surplus funds will no longer be deemed as engaging in "business" provided they do not involve client assets or create financial liability for the broker. This change addresses longstanding ambiguity that had clouded investment activity, particularly in group entities and other adjacent sectors.

Rules 8(1)(f) and 8(3)(f) of the SCRR have long stifled brokers, restricting them from engaging, either as principal or employee, in "any business" other than that of securities or commodity derivatives, except as a broker or agent not involving personal financial liability. It intended to ensure a broker, whether applying for admission to a stock exchange or already registered, did not expose itself to unrelated business risks that could compromise client interests or undermine market stability. The aim was straightforward: to ring-fence client assets and ensure a broker's other activities don't undermine its core responsibilities in the capital markets.

But over the years, these rules began to suffer from excessive literalism, and the lack of clarity over what would "any business" entail, leaving the phrase vulnerable to increasingly restrictive interpretations for brokers. A series of circulars issued by the National Stock Exchange (NSE), probably with the Securities and Exchange Board of India's (Sebi) directions, in 2022 to clarify the scope of permissible activity went on to prohibit brokers from investing even in group firms engaged in non-securities businesses. These included passive, capital-only investments made from retained earnings, and not involving client funds. The circulars expanded the scope of "any business" so broadly that virtually any strategic capital allocation outside traditional broking could be construed as a violation.

For too long, the interpretation of rule 8 was guided by maximum compliance rather than risk-based assessment

The result was interpretive overreach and regulatory uncertainty. The distinction between business operations and capital deployment began to blur, making it difficult for brokers to determine what was permissible and what was not. This interpretation found its way into enforcement actions and market-wide compliance pressure, pushing brokers into a position where even commercially sound decisions became regulatory risks.

In one such high-profile case, Kotak Securities challenged NSE's circular before the Bombay High Court, arguing the stock exchange had no legislative mandate to effectively rewrite the contours of rule 8 or, consequently, to direct Kotak to submit a restructuring plan over its legacy investments. The finance ministry through its department of economic affairs, in an affidavit in court, endorsed this view, emphasising that only the Centre could make interpretative or substantive changes to the SCRR. Importantly, the DEA in its affidavit drew a critical distinction between doing business and making investments, noting that the former entails recurring engagement and financial liability whereas the latter — when ring-fenced and responsibly managed — did not pose systemic risks.

Recognising the operational challenges created by the earlier regime, the DEA issued a consultation paper in early 2025 to revisit the rule. It acknowledged the broking ecosystem had moved beyond traditional models and now demanded flexibility to manage surplus funds, expand services, and grow responsibly. Crucially, it argued that blanket prohibitions on investment were excessive, especially when brokers were already segregating client assets under Sebi's framework. This paved the way for public feedback, evaluating whether the interpretation of 8(1)(f) and 8(3)(f) had outlived their regulatory utility, eventually culminating into the new amendment.

The amendment strikes a careful balance. It does not dismantle the guardrails around client asset protection, nor does it open the gates to indiscriminate diversification. It simply affirms that investments made by a trading member shall not be construed as engaging in "business", except where such investments involve client funds, client securities, or arrangements that create financial liability on the broker. This is not a blanket exemption. The carve-out is narrowly tailored, preserving the regulatory objective of protecting client assets and maintaining systemic integrity. What it does change is the treatment of surplus fund deployment. Brokers may now invest in group firms or other businesses, provided such investments are made using proprietary funds, do not lead to contingent liabilities, and are routed through appropriate corporate structures.

For the broking industry, this reform brings both relief and opportunity. Diversification into non-securities businesses can provide brokers with additional revenue sources. Restricting them to narrowly defined securities-related activities not only stifles innovation but also distorts competition, especially against unregulated or differently regulated players like fintech platforms, NBFCs, or wealth managers. The ability to invest in adjacent verticals offers brokers a path to reduce reliance on transaction-linked income. For instance, a group entity may provide tax planning, estate advisory, or loan distribution services which complement core broking activities but fall outside the regulatory definition of securities business. This, in turn, enhances financial resilience, particularly in cyclical markets where trading volumes may fluctuate sharply.

For too long, the interpretation of rule 8 was guided by maximum compliance rather than risk-based assessment. This change marks a shift towards regulatory proportionality, where conduct is assessed based on its effect on market integrity and investor protection. For a sector that plays an increasingly vital role in capital intermediation, especially among retail investors, the course correction was overdue. It reinforces the principle that regulation must keep pace with innovation, not to encourage risk but to avoid rigidity. The move to realign regulatory intent with market realities is an example of responsive governance that listens to feedback. It not only restores balance but also sets a precedent for financial regulators for evidence-based policymaking, one that preserves the fine balance between prudence and progress.

Wall Street interns are safe from AI. Here's why

SUMMER IS HERE. And for a select cohort of college students, that means swapping lecture halls for trading floors and seminar rooms for Wall Street office suites. In the next few weeks, thousands will begin internships at Goldman Sachs, JPMorgan Chase, and other major financial institutions. What awaits them could define their careers.

Getting there, however, has become harder than getting into the top universities where many of them study. Goldman Sachs begins its process more than a year out, interviewing candidates as early as the end of their sophomore year. The bank's 2024 intern class saw over 315,000 applications for 2,700 spots — an acceptance rate of 0.9%. JPMorgan revealed at its investor day last year that it had received 493,000 applications for about 4,000 positions. Mary Erdoes, head of the asset and wealth management division, called the volume "mind-blowing", noting it left the firm "ripe with the ability to pick talent" from an enormous pool. Both banks now have acceptance rates lower than Harvard University's 3.6%.

The competition for places has intensified dramatically. A decade ago, Goldman's acceptance rate was around 5%, with roughly one-sixth the number of applicants it receives today. One reason applications have surged is the growth of technology platforms that make it easier for students to discover and apply for opportunities. UK-based Trackr, which follows 1,500 programmes, shows its users submitted an average of 66 applications each this year, up from 54 last year, leading to 4.73 interviews per candidate and 0.88 offers — equivalent to one offer for every 75 applications. Success clusters at the top: 10% of the candidates claim 44% of all offers.

MARC RUBINSTEIN
Bloomberg

Despite increased scrutiny around working hours, many interns still put in long days and nights. As one former summer analyst put it: "People complain about working hours in banks, but for me they were not a problem. Yes, there were a few 3 am finishes and some 4 am spikes, but I enjoy intensity." It's not all about endurance, though. Blackstone President Jon Gray advised interns at their welcome presentation last year that success comes to those who "work hard or care more", adding that "treating people nicely can be a bit of a secret weapon".

The prize makes it all worthwhile. As well as the pay (interns take home the equivalent of up to $125,000 in annual salary), the internship pipeline now fills the majority of full-time entry-level positions at major banks, which explicitly design their recruiting around these 10-week programmes. Surviving the summer doesn't guarantee success — the overall intern offer rate across industries stood at 62% in 2023-24, its lowest in more than five years, according to the National Association of Colleges and Employers — but compared with other channels, it is the best way to secure a full-time position.

Blackstone is a good example. The private equity firm had 169 open analyst positions in 2023 and although it received 62,000 applications, the majority were filled via internships. "Getting an entry-level job at Blackstone is 12 times harder than getting into Harvard," Chief Executive Officer Stephen Schwarzman observed. "I doubt I would be able to be hired today. Not sure that's a great thing." Fortunately for him, the pipeline produces results: Gray, his number two, started as an analyst in 1992. At Goldman Sachs, Dan Dees, co-head of banking and markets, joined fresh from university the same summer. The analyst programme remains a proven pathway to the top.

This explains why firms persist with massive internship programmes even as artificial intelligence automates many tasks traditionally performed by junior staff. Excel modelling, pitch book formatting, and data analysis, which once consumed analyst hours, are increasingly handled by algorithms. Banks no longer need armies of interns to power through spreadsheets and PowerPoint slides.

Yet the programmes aren't just about immediate productivity; they're about identifying and developing future leaders. Today's summer analysts may spend less time on mechanical tasks, but they're still learning to think like bankers, manage client relationships, and navigate high-pressure environments under deadline pressure. These skills — reading clients, structuring deals, managing teams — remain irreplaceable. The internship is evolving from a training ground in technical skills to an extended audition for leadership potential. And that makes it more valuable than ever.

Are we game for collaboration?

India needs greater collaboration and equality in action, where public and private institutions, corporates, and entrepreneurs pool efforts to improve its sports ecosystem

FROM A VERY young age, a number of athletes dream of representing India at the highest level of sport. However, a lot of this talent wanes over time, with key factors being the lack of structured tracks for athlete development and representation along with fewer opportunities for career advancement.

While India houses one of the largest youth populations, the success rate in global sporting events is still not proportionate, bringing to light a stark dichotomy. As much as 66% of our population is represented by youths, but only 10% of it engages in sports.

Even within this limited share, the potential of talent at the grassroots remains passive due to fewer opportunities for conventional exposure. Such talent, in comparison to elite athletes, hasn't been able to garner an equal measure of support, with the latter making more progress through focused backing and investments.

What is required is greater collaboration and equality in action — where public and private institutions, corporates, and entrepreneurs pool efforts to improve the sports ecosystem. This, along with the right balance of guidance across funding, wellness, training, and opportunity, is of prime importance to promote sports at the grassroots.

Globally, the sports industry contributes 0.5% to GDP, while in India it stands at only 0.1%. Similarly, while the global average for contribution to sports-related employment is 2-4%, India's share is notably lower, at 0.5%. This gap is on account of how global institutions, corporates, and academies, etc. have partnered to dedicatedly work towards grassroots development. The Laureus Sports for Good Foundation is a shining example of how corporate houses like Daimler and Richemont came together to build a global Laureus Sport for Good platform, showcasing some of the best talent from the sporting world.

Corporate investments need to grow beyond funding, to initiatives that drive enthusiasm for sports

At a local level though, India faces something far more fundamental but complex at the same time. The lack of interventions during early education years, such as quality exposure, interlinked competitions from school to higher ranks, and focused development programmes with the best coaches, are causing athletes to slip away from the talent pool at the preliminary stages.

Before foraying into professional training, more focus needs to be placed on promoting sports as a viable and inspiring career path, and this is where corporate involvement becomes crucial. Their investments need to grow beyond funding, to initiatives that drive enthusiasm for sports — local community centres, integration of sports as course modules, health literacy programmes, and sports facilities in and outside schools to name a few. Additionally, early investment in sports science assessments, when seamlessly integrated with India's grassroots ecosystem, can help track and enhance young athletes' progress, ensuring they receive the right guidance at the right time.

The lack of a robust sports ecosystem results in a country needing to battle larger societal issues like youth inclusion, collaboration, and well-being. The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, which have become a global benchmark, also directly implicate the importance of youth sports towards the overall health and well-being of society.

While India's National Sports Federation — with a primary focus on elite development and performance — has institutional guidelines for sports, corporate support can prove useful in drawing out similar pathways for grassroots talent. With greater resources and innovation at their disposal, they can provide for improved local infrastructure, advanced equipment, modern training techniques, and systematic competition structures.

Many of Dream Sports Foundations' partnerships have helped integrate backward and forward linkages to complete the current chain of actions in the Indian sports ecosystem — starting from talent identification at the institutional level to high performance development programmes for each sporting discipline.

When we teamed up with the Bhaichung Bhutia Football Schools (BBFS), we saw this impact come through. A young boy of 15, Manbhakupar, was identified by the school in 2019 in Meghalaya. After a residency at the BBFS, he emerged as the youngest goalscorer in the U-21 development league. He then went on to help India lift the SAFF U-16 Cup, and is now part of the national team. This wholesome journey was made possible primarily due to talent identification, and the provision of a platform to showcase that talent.

If we want to nurture grassroots athletes, the corporate sector's involvement in sports development can't merely be seen as philanthropic — it needs to be an active investment in the form of continued support. We need to minimise the gap between potential and opportunity, and together build road maps that considerably enhance early stage performance.

While this is just one step in the right direction, more companies need to dip their ink to help write India's sporting future, and make us a global sports powerhouse.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Preserving India's federal structure

Apropos of "It takes two to tango" (FE, May 29), the editorial highlighting the need for more effort to inspire the trust of the states is a pitch for preserving the federal structure of the Indian union. The PM's exhortation for synchronous action by the states and the Centre to realise Viksit Bharat goal, by itself, is no guarantee for such action, given the precarious nature of Centre-state relations. Rather than a monolithic leviathan of a homogeneous nation, the echoing sentiment of the Constitution is one with diverse cultural, linguistic, and regional traditions which subscribe to the larger national identity of India. This is best served in mutual trust and not arm-twisting and abuse of gubernatorial positions or national agencies, which are evident aplenty in court proceedings.

Reality check

"Missing competitive edge" (FE, May 29) highlights India's ground reality. The Centre's active consideration and a policy approach on global trade, reforms, and outreach to trade and economic cooperation bodies are a necessity. Amid the debate on tariffs, we need to analyse the downward trend of the Singapore economy, hailed as the fastest-growing a decade ago. Rankings by credit rating agencies surprise us when the results are contradictory. Southeast Asian nations have registered huge growth and exports, with foreign manufacturing bases yielding supply chain benefits. India needs to invest in innovation and R&D to match global standards of products and productivity. Our large corporates should enhance global presence in industrial output and exports.

THE ABBY ONE SHOW AWARDS 2025 PUT INDEPENDENT CREATIVE AGENCIES IN THE SPOTLIGHT AS THEY DOMINATED THE WINNERS' LIST

INTERVIEW: ASHISH KHAZANCHI
Managing partner, Enormous

'No new pitches in the past 11 years'

Recently crowned Creative Agency of the Year at the Abby Awards, Enormous has proven that independent agencies can challenge large network agencies if not on scale, then on their creative throughput. Ashish Khazanchi, managing partner at Enormous, talks to Christina Moniz about the changing ad ecosystem and why business pitches are not beneficial to the industry. Excerpts:

What would you ascribe your huge win at the Abby Awards to?
We never looked at awards as the goal. They are the by-product of our work. We may be an independent agency but we have reached a certain scale. We are about 115-120 people across Mumbai and Delhi, but our people punch way above their weight. It really comes down to the kind of talent we've got and the work we have done with our clients. We have been able to put together a solid team across creative, planning, account management and other functions. Having said that, it would be wrong to say that we have suddenly begun winning awards this year. If you look at our performance at award platforms such as the Effies, Kyoorius and the Abbys, we have consistently been in the top four or five agencies in the last few years.

Aside from us, agencies such as Tilt Brand Solutions and The Womb are rivalling the network agencies in terms of size.

Creative agencies are navigating tough times between network consolidation and the influence of AI. How are you adapting?
There are only two outcomes of something disruptive like AI—it either destroys you or it forces you to reinvent. While we cannot say how the ecosystem will look in the next few years, we keep adapting with new tools and technology. What I don't understand is this doomsday narrative around AI. At the start of my career, Hindustan Unilever was perhaps the only brand that had the budgets to spend on TV advertising. Today, you may see a two-year old start-up invest in creating a video asset even if it cannot spend on TV advertising. The need for content has exploded and that content will come from ad agencies and production houses. It is time for agencies to value their art and recognise what they can do for brands.

> "THERE ARE ONLY TWO OUTCOMES OF SOMETHING DISRUPTIVE LIKE AI—IT EITHER DESTROYS YOU OR IT FORCES YOU TO REINVENT"

The agency won around nine businesses in a six-month period last year without a business pitch. What is drawing brands towards Enormous?
We have not had a new business strategy for the past 11-odd years that we've been in existence. I believe that business pitches are a terrible way for brands to identify the right agency partners. The best way to enlist an agency is to examine its body of work and the consistency with which it has crafted campaigns. Agencies need to build strong reputations for brands to come to them, and that is a time-consuming process, especially for independent agencies. We didn't get here overnight. Some of our clients have been with us for nearly eight or nine years now. This kind of trust helps us do better work.

Have you actively stopped pitching for new businesses?
We have always believed in delivering good work, which will have inbound business inquiries rather than us going out and creating new opportunities. We would rather have our work do the talking. This is where I believe that independent creative agencies have an edge over larger firms. Most indie agencies have built skill sets across disciplines and are not boutique firms. They are nimble and there is less bureaucracy compared with large global networks. Finally, we are not driven by commerce or revenue. If one is chasing the right kind of thing, the numbers will eventually take care of themselves. Good work takes time and when much of that time is spent on chasing new business, the final product suffers.

INTERVIEW: GOUR GUPTA
MD & Chairman, Tribes Communication

'Can move faster without the layers of a large network'

Tribes Communication had a standout run at Goafest 2024, clinching a Grand Prix besides several other metals. In this interview, Gour Gupta, MD & chairman of Tribes Communication, speaks with Geetika Srivastava about how to build an idea-first, medium-agnostic agency at a time of rapid consolidation, and why he believes independence and speed are Tribes' biggest strengths. Excerpts:

Tribes had a remarkable run at Goafest this year, bagging a Grand Prix and several metals. What did it take?
Having evolved from being part of the DDB network group, a few years ago Tribes acquired full ownership and took a courageous and strategic leap toward building an independent agency. When you're a part of a global network agency, creative recognition comes through the collective strength of the network. But with Tribes, we're building something new from the ground up—crafting our own creative legacy. Our Goafest wins reinforce our positioning as India's leading non-traditional creative agency and affirm the power of independent thinking in delivering standout work.

What changes would you like to see in the awards ecosystem to better accommodate experiential and OOH work?
OOH and Experiential categories in Indian award forums are often underrepresented compared to global platforms. International awards have thoughtfully divided sub-categories into Special Build, Transit Medium, In-store Experience, etc. Indian platforms lack clear segmentation within these categories, with traditional OOH often being limited to print or posters.

Equally important is jury orientation. A lot of content and digital work is winning in Experiential and Activation. Jurors must be well-versed in the specifics of OOH and Experiential to ensure fair evaluation. Ultimately, the winning work must be experiential or OOH-first.

How do you ensure creative innovation and relevance in an increasingly digital and format-fluid advertising environment?
Our approach is simple: idea-first, medium-agnostic. We don't begin with the format—we begin with the most engaging way to connect with people. Sometimes that's tech-enabled, sometimes physical, or a cultural nuance.

Every campaign now has to work even harder. Initially, if it was an OOH campaign, it was just isolated to an OOH environment. Now we need to design campaigns with tech and social media integration. There's a shelf life about campaigns that extends beyond the original medium. Creative teams have also evolved from traditional to digital formats and three-dimensional visualisations of the medium.

> "OUR APPROACH IS SIMPLE: IDEA-FIRST, MEDIUM-AGNOSTIC. WE DON'T BEGIN WITH FORMAT—WE BEGIN WITH THE MOST ENGAGING WAY TO CONNECT"

Many mainline and digital-first agencies are now entering the OOH and experiential space. How do you view this influx, and what gives Tribes an edge?
It's interesting to know that more mainline and digital-first agencies are exploring OOH and experiential mediums. However, there's a clear difference between simply extending a campaign into these spaces and crafting ideas that are OOH and experiential at heart. At Tribes, we've built a deep, channel-native understanding of how to create impact in physical spaces—whether it's through immersive experiences or OOH innovations. Our edge lies in designing campaigns where the medium isn't an afterthought but central to the idea itself. It's not just about visibility—it's about creating moments that people experience, remember, and share. That's where we lead.

The ad industry is witnessing a wave of consolidation. How is Tribes navigating this shift?
Tribes is uniquely positioned—we're the only independent agency in the country to have bought our stakes from a network agency and used that momentum to expand. While many are consolidating under holding companies, we chose independence to stay agile, bold, and creatively driven.

Without the layers of a large network, we move faster, think sharper, and make decisions that prioritise impact over process. Our tight-knit team, deep client partnerships, and freedom to take risks allow us to consistently deliver standout, culture-forward work—often rivalling, and at times surpassing, larger agencies.

What do clients today expect from a creative agency, and how are you adapting your offerings to meet those expectations?
We're the only agency in the country with a dedicated team focused on media-native creatives. Too often, what passes for OOH is just repurposed print ads or TVC screengrabs slapped onto billboards. We go deeper—understanding the nuances of the medium and making creatives that are designed to work for it, not just on it. Our long-term client relationships are built on this ability to combine strategic thinking with executional excellence—creating work that's contextually smart, creatively bold, and impact-driven.

The unexpected interruption of the IPL this year caught many brands mid-campaign. Did this impact any of your clients?
The unexpected interruption of the IPL did disrupt momentum across several sectors, from FMCG to e-commerce. Naturally, some of our clients' campaigns were impacted mid-flight.

But we've always believed in staying agile and prepared. With strategic foresight and pre-aligned backup plans, our team was able to recalibrate messaging and media deployment in real time. Once the IPL resumed, we ensured a seamless transition with no long-term impact. Honestly, it was a test of resilience and we're proud of how smoothly we navigated it.

Change in modes of film distribution post-Covid

EARLIER, FILMS WERE distributed on two major platforms — theatrical release followed by a satellite release on television channels. Since the Covid-19 pandemic, a digital distribution layer has been added where streaming rights are sold to OTT platforms. Meanwhile, the rising cost of going to the movies (upwards of ₹2000 for a family of four) has led to cinegoers preferring to view a film on OTT. The "window" between a theatrical release and OTT availability has also shrunk from months to mere weeks. This shift allows films to recoup investments faster and access a more diverse audience. Streaming platforms have also redefined "success"; beyond box office numbers, engagement metrics and content longevity now play a crucial role. The once-dominant satellite TV rights market has also been disrupted, with many films opting for OTT-first deals. Streaming has not only democratised access to content but also changed how and where films earn, turning OTT platforms into both primary distributors and essential financiers of Indian cinema.

FILM RELEASE ON YOUTUBE

A direct-to-audience strategy for Bollywood

Aamir Khan's decision to go for YouTube's pay-per-view service for his new movie Sitaare Zameen Par is an audacious attempt at challenging the norms of digital distribution in Bollywood. If successful, filmmakers will reclaim the spotlight from OTT platforms & broadcasters, explains Urvi Malvania

45-70%
EXISTING REVENUE SHARE FOR CONTENT CREATORS ON YOUTUBE

THE YOUTUBE TVOD MODEL GIVES PRODUCERS A LONG-TERM REVENUE STREAM WITH A GLOBAL AUDIENCE REACH

₹100-300 cr
STREAMING RIGHTS FEE PAID BY OTT PLATFORMS FOR BIG-TICKET FILMS

Benefits of a YouTube release

A YOUTUBE RELEASE, like Aamir Khan's Sitaare Zameen Par, could be a disruptive move since it gives the producers a long-term revenue stream with a global audience reach. In addition to this, the model could have a positive impact on the film's theatrical run as consumers may be more inclined to pay for the movie hall experience than the YouTube pay per view experience. Films available through traditional OTT streaming deals often see public inertia to watch it in the theatres since these would be available on an OTT platform after 8-10 weeks anyway. This is especially true for films that do not have a high special effects element and watching them at home would not take away from the overall experience of the film. The TVOD model also democratises content distribution, since a filmmaker does not need anyone to broker OTT deals.

Trade-offs in this model

THE TVOD OR pay-per-view model is a performance-driven revenue model. The upside is that producers need not restrict the film's digital rights fee to a fixed amount. Also, the title can gain from the platform's algorithm to get visibility among digital audiences. On the flipside, selling a film's digital rights to a streaming platform offers financial certainty as producers get a fixed amount upfront, regardless of how the film performs post-release. In case of the TVOD model, if the film does not get a good reception it does have an impact on the producer's revenues. Additionally, while the risk of piracy across legitimate digital platforms could be comparable, the impact of piracy on the producer in case of the pay-per-view model is higher, since it directly affects income from content consumption on the legal platform.

How monetisation on digital platforms works

MOST INDIAN FILMS are monetised on digital platforms through subscription video on demand (SVOD) deals, where streaming services like Netflix, Amazon Prime Video, and Disney+ Hotstar acquire exclusive digital rights for a fixed fee, paid upfront. Networks such as Zee and Disney/Viacom18 which have an OTT presence also bundle digital and satellite rights in a single deal to maximise value. Another avenue is ad-supported video on demand (AVOD) which generates income through revenue share on ads rather than subscriptions. The third model is a pay-per-view model like YouTube TVOD (transactional video on demand) where one can rent the title on a platform for one-time viewing. The revenue is shared between the platform and producer.

What it means for film distribution

A SHIFT TOWARDS models like YouTube TVOD could mark further democratisation of film distribution in India, moving power away from large OTT platforms and broadcasters toward creators and consumers. If Khan's experiment succeeds, it could encourage other filmmakers and independent producers to explore direct-to-audience monetisation strategies. The move also points towards a discretionary approach by OTT platforms when acquiring content, which could indicate a more bottom-line first strategy given the rising technology and customer acquisition costs. Widespread adoption of TVOD hinges on a cultural shift in viewer behaviour since a majority of Indian consumers are habituated to "free" or subscription-based content. Getting them to pay for individual films will require strong brand pull, and appealing content. This in turn will force filmmakers to devise distribution strategies that do not rely heavily on one digital distribution stream, but explore a hybrid model to maximise returns, and minimise risk. The window between a theatrical release and release on other media platforms could also see some change, allowing producers and platforms to better monetise a title.

Germany seeks to levy 10% tax on online platforms

Germany is considering a 10% tax on large online platforms like Alphabet's Google and Meta's Facebook, its new culture minister told magazine Stern, in a move likely to heighten trade tensions with the Trump administration. The proposal comes as Chancellor Friedrich Merz is expected to travel to Washington soon to meet with US President Donald Trump, although a trip has not yet been officially announced.

Shein to increase product safety testing after probe

FAST-FASHION RETAILER Shein on Thursday said it would increase its testing of products this year, after the European Union warned of fines if it does not address the bloc's concerns about unsafe and dangerous products sold on its site. Shein said it targets 2.5 million product safety and quality tests in 2025, up from 2 million last year.

Boeing CEO says he wants to crank up 737 MAX production

BOEING AIMS TO increase production of its best-selling 737 MAX jets to 42 aircraft per month in the next few months and to boost output to 47 a month in early 2026, Chief Executive Kelly Ortberg said on Thursday. The planemaker's share price jumped 5% after Ortberg said he hoped to have production at 47 a month by the end of 2025.

Israel announces new West Bank settlements

ISRAEL'S GOVERNMENT HAS approved 22 new Jewish settlements in the occupied West Bank, its finance minister said on Thursday, a move condemned by Israeli human rights groups that may strain ties with key allies that have threatened sanctions. Bezalel Smotrich, an ultra-nationalist in the ruling right-wing coalition , wrote on X that the settlements would be located in the northern West Bank, without specifying exactly where.

Musk, distanced from Trump, says he's exiting White House

May 29

ELON MUSK TOOK a swipe at President Donald Trump's signature domestic policy legislation, saying it would add to the national deficit.

He complained to administration officials about a lucrative deal that went to a rival company to build an artificial-intelligence data center in the Middle East. And he has yet to make good on a $100 million pledge to Trump's political operation.

Musk, who once called himself the president's "first buddy," is now operating with some distance from Trump as he says he is ending his government work to spend more time on his companies.

Musk remains on good terms with Trump, according to White House officials. But he has also made it clear that he is disillusioned with Washington and frustrated with the obstacles he encountered as he upended the federal bureaucracy, raising questions about the strength of the alliance between the president and the world's richest man.

He was the biggest known political spender in the 2024 election, and he told Trump's advisers this year that he would give $100 million to groups controlled by the president's team before the 2026 midterms. As of this week, the money hasn't come in yet, according to multiple people familiar with the matter, who spoke on the condition of anonymity

In a post on X, his social media site, on Wednesday night, he officially confirmed for the first time that his stint as a government employee was coming to an end and thanked Trump "for the opportunity to reduce wasteful spending."

"The @DOGE mission will only strengthen over time as it becomes a way of life throughout the government," he added, referring to his Department of Government Efficiency team. The billionaire's imprint is still firmly felt in official Washington through that effort, an initiative to drastically cut spending that has deployed staff across the government. But Musk has said in recent days that he spent too much time focused on politics and has lamented the reputational damage he and his companies have suffered because of his work in the Trump administration.

"I think I probably did spend a bit too much time on politics," Musk said in an interview this week with Ars Technica, a tech news outlet. He added: "It was just relative time allocation that probably was a little too high on the government side, and I've reduced that significantly in recent weeks." He also took a swipe at Trump's allies in Congress, telling CBS News that he was "disappointed" by the domestic policy bill that the president championed and the House passed last week. NYT

CONSUMER SPENDING ADVANCED 1.2%, DOWN FROM INITIAL ESTIMATE OF 1.8%

Tariff impact: US economy shrinks 0.2% in March qtr

BLOOMBERG
May 29

THE US ECONOMY shrank at the start of the year, restrained by weaker consumer spending and an even bigger impact from trade than initially reported.

Gross domestic product decreased at a 0.2% annualised pace in the first quarter, the second estimate from the Bureau of Economic Analysis showed Thursday. That compared with an initially reported 0.3% decline.

The economy's primary growth engine — consumer spending — advanced 1.2%, down from an initial estimate of 1.8% and the weakest pace in almost two years. Meantime, net exports subtracted nearly 5 percentage points from the GDP calculation, slightly more than the first projection and the largest on record.

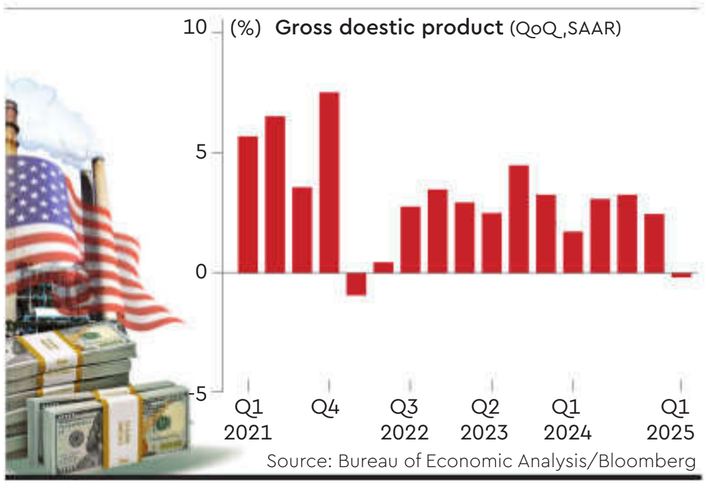

The slight upward revision in GDP reflected stronger business investment and a greater accumulation of inventories. Federal government spending wasn't as much of a drag as originally reported.

GDP figures are revised multiple times as more data become available, enabling the government to fine-tune its estimate. The first projection, released in late April, showed the economy contracted for the first time since 2022.

The final estimate is due next month.

Economic growth was dragged down at the start of the year by a surge in imports as US businesses tried to get ahead of President Donald Trump's tariffs.

US bans chip software and chemical exports to China

THE US HAS ordered a broad swathe of companies to stop shipping goods to China without a license and revoked licenses already granted to certain suppliers, said three people familiar with the matter.

The new restrictions - which are likely to escalate tensions with Beijing - appear aimed at choke points to prevent China from getting products necessary for key sectors, one of the people said.

Products affected include design software and chemicals for semiconductors, butane and ethane, machine tools, and aviation equipment, the people said.

Many companies received letters from the US Department of Commerce over the last few days informing them of the new restrictions.

The electronic design automation software makers include Cadence, Synopsys and Siemens EDA, a subsidiary of Siemens, one said.

The two sources said the Commerce Department will review requests for licenses to ship to China on a case-by-case basis. REUTERS

S&P 500, Nasdaq advance as Nvidia jumps

THE S&P 500 and the Nasdaq rose on Thursday, boosted by Nvidia after the AI-chipmaker posted strong revenue growth, while investors also assessed a federal court ruling that blocked most of US President Donald Trump's tariffs.

Nvidia added 4.8% after reporting higher-than-expected quarterly sales growth, driven by customers stockpiling AI chips ahead of US export restrictions on China. The company, however, warned that the new curbs are expected to cut $8 billion from its current-quarter sales.

Stocks, however, were off their session highs as investors assessed a U.S. court decision which invalidated with immediate effect most of Trump's sweeping levies imposed since January. The court decision, however, did not address some industry-specific tariffs on automobiles, steel and aluminum. At 11.23 am ET, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 9.60 points, or 0.02%, to 42,108.30, the S&P 500 gained 24.56 points, or 0.42%, to 5,913.11 and the Nasdaq Composite gained 142.29 points, or 0.75%, to 19,243.23. REUTERS

Trump's latest: Harvard must act within 30 days

REUTERS
Boston, May 29

THE TRUMP ADMINISTRATION on Thursday backed away from plans to immediately revoke Harvard University's ability to enroll international students and would instead give it 30 days to contest those plans through a lengthier administrative process.

The US Department of Homeland Security sent Harvard a notice of intent on Wednesday to withdraw the school's certification under a federal program to enroll non-US students.

The Justice Department filed the notice in court ahead of a hearing before US District Judge Allison Burroughs in Boston over whether to extend a temporary order blocking President Donald Trump's administration from revoking the Ivy League school's right to host international students.

Citing the potential for Harvard and its students to be harmed if the administration reverted to its earlier plans, Burroughs at that hearing said she planned to issue a broad preliminary injunction preserving the status quo while the newly announced administrative process plays out.

Harvard had argued that the revocation violated its free speech and due process rights under the U.S. Constitution. In addition, Harvard contended that the revocation failed to comply with DHS regulations. The regulations required providing at least 30 days to challenge the agency's allegations and giving Harvard an opportunity to pursue an administrative appeal.

Harvard has said losing that right would affect about one quarter of its student body and devastate the school. It has denied Trump administration charges of alleged bias against conservatives, fostering antisemitism on campus and coordinating with the Chinese Communist Party.

The Homeland Security Department said it sent Harvard the notice after school officials indicated an intent to comply with requirements of the federal Student and Exchange Visitor Program, which allows Harvard to enroll non-US students.

"We continue to reject Harvard's repeated pattern of endangering its students and spreading American hate—it must change its ways to be eligible to receive generous benefits from the American people," Homeland Security Secretary Kristi Noem said in a statement.

Harvard did not immediately respond to a request for comment.

The revocation announced on May 22 was an escalation of the Trump administration's attack on Harvard.

Eight years on, RERA long on promise...

While he agreed that not all states have progressed like Maharashtra and corrupt practices still persist in some states, he said the latter has done a good job regarding publishing the details of projects, appointing specialists, issuing orders, imposing penalties and so on. "It has mainly brought more confidence among buyers than before," he added.

Over 143,000 projects have been registered with RERA authorities, comprising 11.1 million units between January 2017 and January 2025 across 20 states, data tracked by PropEquity showed.

Mohnot agreed with Hiranandani. "Diversion of funds has come down by 80-90% after RERA was implemented," he added.

RERA led to the development of organised market with sales of many developers crossing ₹10,000 crore, while some touching ₹30,000 crore, Mohnot said. "Branded and corporate developers benefited with RERA while fringe players went out of the market," he added.

However, he said RERA is too customer-centric. "RERA should allow developers to take out funds if financial closure is done.

This will help in efficient utilisation of capital in a capital-starved country like India," he said.

Sunil Pareek, executive director at Assets Property Group, said RERA has benefited buyers in the market addressed by top developers, which is nearly 65-70% of launches as they follow the law in letter and spirit. "Out of the balance, 20% of the market seems to just have kind of followed the law in spirit and to that segment RERA still needs to show full benefits," he said.

Tier I developers don't submit "modified" data as they follow corporate governance and transparency norms. It is mostly tier III developers who apparently sometimes meddle with the data out of their own compulsions. Buyers need to be cautious about that, he added.

Pareek also pointed out that RERA doesn't have overarching powers in situations such as stuck projects and NCLT cases, where interdependency with other agencies is high. In the next round of law improvements, these areas can be focused on, he said.

Sebi tightens derivatives norms

THIS MOVE IS expected to reduce stock ban events in the derivatives market, said brokers.

Stocks will now enter the ban list a day after the MWPL breach to reduce instances of spurious F&O ban periods in single stocks. It gives traders time to adjust. Exchanges will monitor open interest randomly during the day and report breaches fortnightly.

It has been decided that any trading done by entities in the derivatives contracts of a scrip, subsequent to its entry in the ban period, should result in reduction of FutEq OI on end of day basis.

"The new rules aim to reduce speculation in F&O market by limiting position limits & increasing surveillance in phased manner. Changes in MWPS are aimed at better matching derivative exposure with cash market limits," Anita Gandhi, institution head at Arihant Capital.

Traders may now be allowed to take positions in stocks under the ban period -- but only if it helps reduce overall risk in their portfolio.

These measures are not enforcement tools but designed to improve transparency and reduce the chance of manipulation, according to Sebi.

Along with Sebi's earlier measures, the proposed changes to open interest calculations will help in reducing speculation in F&O markets, reduce market volatility, and drive a healthy participation of retail investors who understand risk vs reward, Harsha M, CEO and founder, Zerodha Streak, said.

Sebi has also revised rules for allowing F&O trading on non-benchmark indices. New rules include minimum 4 stocks in the index, top stock's weight capped at 20% and top 3 stocks' combined weight not more than 45%.

Subsequent to December 5, 2025, the end of day excess position in index options on each day shall be checked by exchanges against the holding of securities or reported cash or equivalent on that day. Excess position beyond permissible limits will attract additional surveillance.

The pre-open session will be extended to current-month futures contracts on both single stocks and indices, mirroring the modalities of the cash market's pre-open and post-closing sessions. In the last five trading days before expiry, these sessions shall extend to next-month futures contracts.

Ola Electric losses double, revenue...

FOUNDER BHAVISH AGGARWAL said momentum is expected to return with the rollout of the electric motorcycle Roadster.

He added that Ola has completed or is in the process of securing trade certifications and is in discussions with authorities to address queries related to its February sales data.

"We received around 25,000 orders in February, of which 3,000 were canceled.

"About 2,000 were for the Roadster.

"Deliveries of the other models had been delayed but are now underway," he said.

Ola Electric expects the auto business to turn Ebitda-positive by June-July, banking on a recovery in Q1FY26 and benefits under the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme.

Though the company has begun producing its in-house Bharat 4680 battery cells, commercial deployment has been pushed beyond Q1FY26.

"We've successfully tested our products with the 4680 cell. Integration is ready, but the rollout will now happen in select variants next quarter," Aggarwal said.

Capital expenditure for FY26 is expected to be modest, in the range of ₹100-200 crore, with capacity to support volumes of up to 25,000 units.

For its cell manufacturing business, Ola has earmarked ₹1,600 crore, of which ₹1,100 crore will be raised through existing debt lines and the remaining ₹400 crore from equity.

FIRM REPORTS BLOCKBUSTER Q1

Nvidia discloses more China risks

REUTERS
San Francisco, May 28

EVEN AS NVIDIA reported another blockbuster quarter of 69% sales growth on Wednesday, the maker of artificial intelligence chips warned of more risks to its business emerging in the technology conflict between the US and China.

Tucked into Nvidia's quarterly filing with US securities regulators, Nvidia for the first time said that restrictions on the use of open-source AI models from China such as DeepSeek and Qwen could hurt its business, as could US rules barring connected vehicle technology from China, where Nvidia's long-struggling car chip business has finally flourished.

While Nvidia CEO Jensen Huang on a conference call with analysts praised US President Donald Trump's decision to rescind an export rule put in place by President Joe Biden that would have regulated the flow of Nvidia's chips around the world, the company's quarterly filing noted that no new rule had been issued in its place and that a "replacement rule may impose new restrictions on our products or operations."

On the other hand, Huang criticised new export curbs imposed by the Trump administration in April. The curbs stop the company from selling its H20 chip made for the Chinese market, which Huang called "a springboard to global success." The export limits cost Nvidia $2.5 billion in sales during its just-ended fiscal first quarter, and it expects another $8 billion sales hit during the current fiscal second quarter. Sales of the H20 in China earned Nvidia $4.6 billion in revenue as customers stockpiled the chips before the curbs set in. The China business accounted for 12.5% of overall revenue.

"The question is not whether China will have AI - it already does. The question is whether one of the world's largest AI markets will run on American platforms," Huang said, later adding that "AI export controls should strengthen U.S. platforms.

Karnataka to charge slab-based welfare fee from aggregators

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, May 29

THE KARNATAKA GOVERNMENT is likely to introduce a comprehensive tiered or slab-based structure to collect welfare fees from aggregators to support the Karnataka Gig Workers Social Security and Welfare Fund.

According to government officials, the state labour department is set to finalise specific welfare fee rates for different categories of aggregators that take into account different payout models deployed for gig workers by such platforms.

Sources indicate that software-as-a-service (SaaS) models deployed by platforms like ONDC and Namma Yatri, which charge subscription fees rather than taking commissions from transactions, could be levied lower welfare fee rates of 1-2%. Commission-based aggregators, including Swiggy, Zomato, Zepto, Ola, Uber, Amazon, and Flipkart, could face higher welfare fees, with rates scaling up to 5%, based on their revenue models and transaction volumes.

The rates will operate within the framework established by the Karnataka Platform-based Gig Workers Ordinance 2025, which received the assent of governor Thaawarchand Gehlot on May 27. The ordinance requires aggregators to pay between 1% and 5% of the payout made by the platform to the gig worker in each transaction.

Crucially, Section 20(2) of the ordinance empowers the state government to "specify through a notification different percentage on the payout, with or without a cap on the gig worker welfare fee on each transaction, for different categories of aggregator or platform."

Chief minister Siddaramaiah

The ordinance covers eight categories of services: Ride sharing, food and grocery delivery, logistics, e-marketplaces (B2B/B2C), professional services, healthcare, travel and hospitality, and content and media services.

While the state government has six months from the ordinance coming into force to notify specific rates for different aggregator categories, sources said the framework development, involving at least 26 stakeholders including the International Labour Organisation, NASSCOM and the Confederation of Indian Industry, is in advanced stages. The government could notify the draft rules for public consultation, which include slab-based rates, as early as Monday, they added.

1 The above results were reviewed and recommended by the Audit Committee & approved by the Board of Directors at their respective meetings held on May 28, 2025. The financial results for the quarter and year ended March, 31st 2025 have been audited by the Statutory Auditors of the Company.

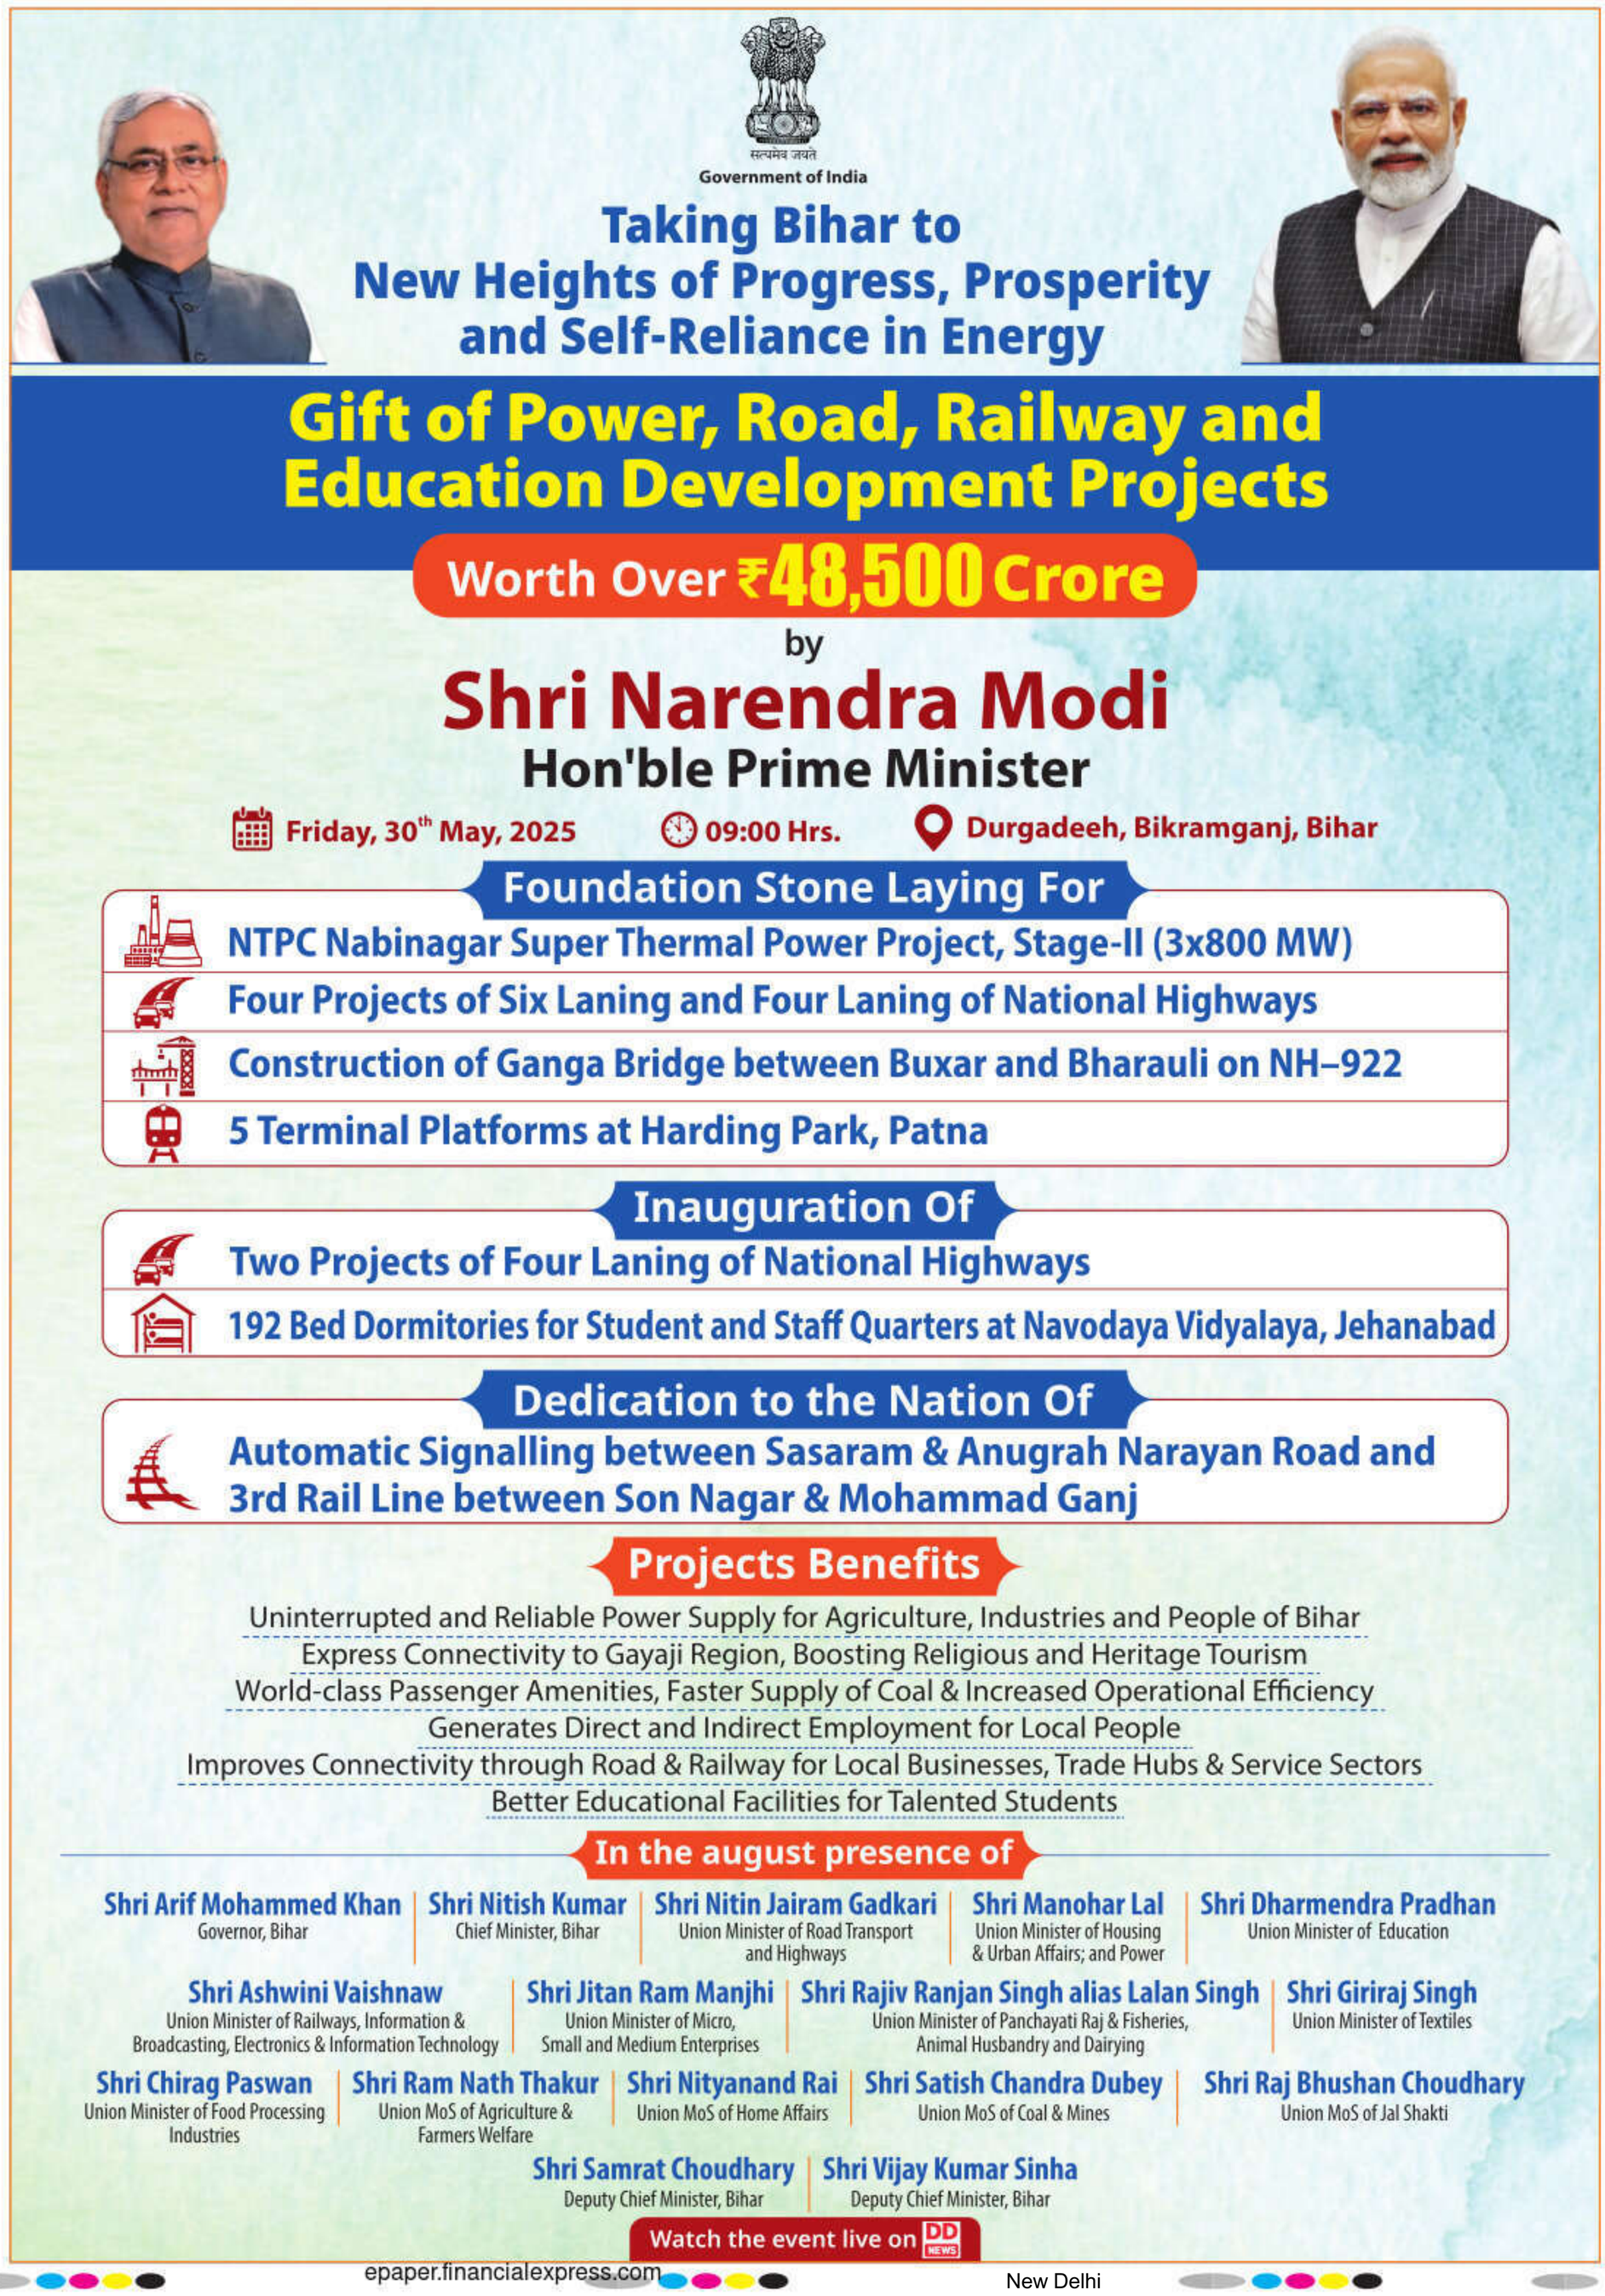

2 "Interest on Unsecured Loans – Reversal and Non-Provision
The Company has outstanding unsecured loans aggregating ₹2,678.25 lakhs as at 31 March 2025, received from directors, related parties, and external parties. These borrowings carry an interest rate of 8% per annum.
During the financial year ended 31 March 2025:
- Interest amounting to ₹58.15 lakhs was accrued over the first three quarters, but subsequently reversed during the fourth quarter.
- Further, no interest provision was made for the quarter ended 31 March 2025, amounting to ₹141.59 lakhs.

Management has stated that due to the Company's ongoing financial difficulties and operational challenges, it is currently unable to service these interest obligations and intends to renegotiate the terms of the borrowings. However, as of the balance sheet date, no formal waiver or contractual amendment has been executed with the lenders.
In the absence of such documentation, the reversal and non-provision of interest are not in accordance with Ind AS 109 – Financial Instruments, which requires continued recognition of contractual interest until legally modified or waived. The statutory auditors have accordingly issued a qualified opinion in this regard."

COMPANY ISSUES LARGEST RUPEE-DENOMINATED BOND SINCE JANUARY 2024

LIC sole buyer in Adani Ports' record ₹5,000-crore bond sale

SAIKAT DAS & DIVYA PATIL
May 29

LIFE INSURANCE CORPORATION of India is the sole buyer in Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone's record ₹5, 000 crore ($585 million) bond sale, according to people familiar with the matter.

The company will issue a 15-year bond with a coupon of 7.75%, the people said, asking not to be identified as the information is private. The firm will use the proceeds for capital expenditure and refinancing existing dollar debt, they said.

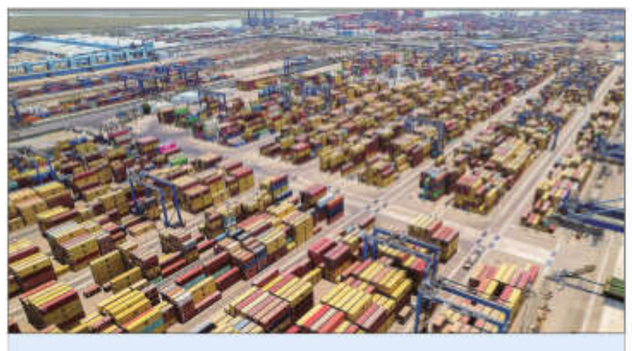

Investment by India's largest state-owned insurer in the rupee bond shows investors are steadily regaining confidence in the conglomerate after US Department of Justice indicted billionaire Gautam Adani over an alleged bribery plot in November, charges the group has denied.

Long-tenure bond issuances by private companies are not very common in India. Adani Ports' offering makes it a good fit for LIC as Indian insurers seek long-term investment opportunities to meet their similar nature liabilities. This is the firm's largest rupee deal and the first since January 2024, data compiled by Bloomberg show.

Representatives for the Adani Group and LIC didn't immediately reply to emails seeking comments.

Separately, Adani Ports recently raised about $150 million through a bilateral loan from DBS Group Holdings. Last month, the group raised about $750 million through an offshore private placement bond to fund an acquisition of a construction firm. BlackRock subscribed to about a third of the issuance.

BLOOMBERG

BETTING BIG

- Bond details: 15-year maturity with a 7.75% coupon rate
- Proceeds to be used for capital expenditure and refinancing dollar debt
- Indicates renewed investor confidence in Adani despite bribery allegations, which the group denies
- For project finance norms, the banking department has suggested the RBI take a case-by-case approach

Company considers dollar bond buyback on strong cash flow

ADANI PORTS AND Special Economic Zone (APSEZ), the transport and logistics arm of Adani Group, plans to consider a US dollar bond buyback as robust business growth has given it ample cash flows.

The board is scheduled to meet on May 31, 2025, to deliberate on the proposal, subject to prevailing market conditions, according to a regulatory filing. The move comes on the back of robust cash flows. "We have more cash flow than we can utilise," Karan Adani, managing director of APSEZ, had stated in a recent media interaction. He noted that the excess liquidity has led to the company's leverage ratio falling to suboptimal levels.

In FY25, the company reported an Ebitda of ₹20,471 crore, marking a 19% increase year-on-year. As a result, its net debt-to-Ebitda ratio declined to 1.8x — the lowest in the past decade.

This performance comes despite ongoing capital expenditure across its network of 18 ports and terminals, including the launch of Vizhinjam in Kerala — India's first global transshipment port - and a new terminal in Colombo, Sri Lanka.

Buoyed by its strong financials and stable business model, APSEZ recently became the first infrastructure company in India to be rated 'AAA' by domestic rating agencies.

Young and rural borrowers drive next wave of fintech expansion

Nearly 9 in 10 small-ticket personal loans, those under ₹50,000, now originate from fintechs, with average loan sizes shrinking even among above-prime borrowers. This trend reflects a strategic focus on high-frequency, low-ticket lending aimed at reaching underserved segments. Fintechs are gradually diversifying their portfolios by expanding into loans against property, signalling a move toward more secured, higher-value lending. Compiled by Ayanti Bera

Personal loans remain the mainstay of India's FinTech lending landscape, with small-ticket personal loans accounting for an overwhelming 92% of FinTech originations by volume, as of Q4'24

Share in fintech origination (%)

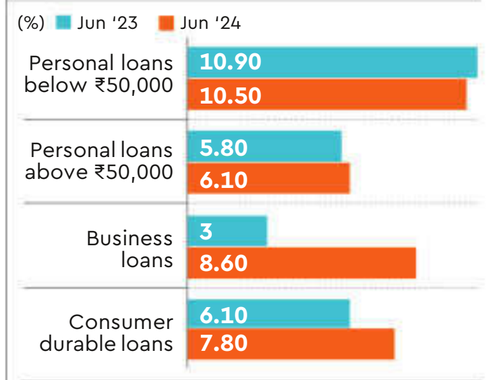

Personal loans below ₹50,000	92%
Personal loans above ₹50,000	3%
Consumer durable loans	3%
Business Loans	1%
Loan against property	0.02%
Others	1%

FinTech lenders now serve over 23.3 million consumers with outstanding balances over ₹1.3 trillion, highlighting FinTech lenders' expanding role in India's credit ecosystem

Early delinquencies are stable for personal loans but have increased significantly for business loans

Vintage delinquency by accounts

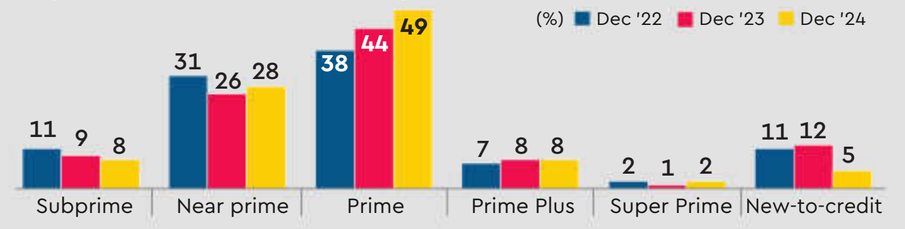

FinTech personal loan consumers are younger and from deeper geographies, underscoring FinTechs' role in financial inclusion

Consumer distribution by geography

FinTech lenders have gradually shifted towards existing to credit consumers in originations, while the share of prime and above-prime consumers in FinTech originations has also increased steadily

Job growth slows to 2.8% on cost-conscious hiring: Teamlease

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, May 29

INDIA'S JOB MARKET is projected to grow by 2.8% in the first half of FY26, reflecting a more cautious and demand-sensitive hiring approach, according to TeamLease Services' latest Employment Outlook Report released on Thursday.

This marks a slowdown from the 7.1% growth recorded in the second half of FY25, indicating a strategic shift towards cost discipline and targeted recruitment. The report forecasts a 2.8% Net Employment Change (NEC), with 47% of surveyed employers planning to expand their workforce, 28% opting to maintain current levels, and 25% expecting reductions. The findings are based on inputs from 1,263 employers across 23 industries and 20 cities.

Flexible staffing continues to gain traction, with 69% of employers adopting flexi-workforce models to manage seasonal and cyclical demand. "By allowing organisations to scale quickly without the burden of long-term costs, flexi-staffing is proving crucial, especially during the leaner H1 period," the report noted.

The gig economy also remains central to hiring strategies, particularly in customer service and sales. Around 64% of employers are leveraging gig models to fill these roles. "As industries embrace emerging technologies, organisations must recognise that agility and innovation are the true engines of success," Kartik Narayan, CEO-Staffing, TeamLease Services.

Item No. 2 – To Approve the Resolution No. 1 based on Clarification on object under Corrigendum Notice.

The Corrigendum Notice is being issued in Regard to Purchase of Land by the Company

"The Company intends to acquire land on lease from the Government of Uttar Pradesh. In this regard, the Company has already signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Government of Uttar Pradesh. However, one of the eligibility criteria under the "Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) and Fortune 500 Companies Investment Promotion Policy, Uttar Pradesh: 2023" is that the applicant must have received a minimum of ₹10 crore in Foreign Direct Investment (FDI).

To meet this requirement, our Promoter Company, CLN Energy Pte. Limited, a foreign entity, will invest a minimum of ₹10 crore in the Company through this preferential issue. This investment will qualify as FDI, thereby enabling the Company to submit a bid under the above-mentioned scheme for leasehold land, which is intended for establishing a new manufacturing facility.

Accordingly, the funds will primarily be utilized for securing the leasehold land under the policy.

However, in the event the Company does not receive land allotment after the bidding process—due to any unforeseen circumstances—the funds raised will be utilized either for capital expenditure (such as the purchase of new machinery), for reduction of existing debt, or a combination of both, in line with the Company's strategic objectives."

This is to inform that a Corrigendum Notice has been added to the existing EVEN. The Members who have already cast their vote on Item No. 1 are requested to cast their vote on Item No. 2 of the same EVEN. The Hon'ble Allahabad High Court has held that no VAT is chargeable on such transactions. This matter is sub-judice before the Hon'ble Supreme Court. GST demand is raised on these transactions from July, 2017 which is contested and is adequately provided as provision for contingencies with corresponding reimbursement asset based on back-to-back undertaking by the party to indemnify for any liability that may finally arise.
   GST council in its meeting dated October 7, 2023 has ceded the right to tax such supplies to state governments. However, the State Government has not notified any rules in this regard as yet. Pending necessary amendments / notifications, the Company has continued the same accounting treatment in respect of the transactions as in previous quarter(s).
4. The Board of Directors in the meeting held on 14 November, 2023 approved a Composite Scheme of Arrangement ("the Scheme") between DCM Shriram Industries Limited and DCM Shriram Fine Chemicals Limited and DCM Shriram International Limited (wholly owned subsidiaries of DCM Shriram Industries Limited) and Lily Commercial Private Limited, for amalgamation of Lily Commercial Private Limited with DCM Shriram Industries Limited, and subsequent demerger of Chemical and Rayon businesses of DCM Shriram Industries Limited into DCM Shriram Fine Chemicals Limited and DCM Shriram International Limited, respectively, with effect from the appointed date of 1 April 2023, subject to regulatory and statutory approvals, as applicable. The Scheme has been cleared by BSE and NSE under listing regulations and has been filed for approval with Hon'ble NCLT, New Delhi on 23rd October, 2024 as required under section 230-232 of the Companies Act, 2013. Pending necessary approvals, the effect of the Scheme has not been given in the financial results.
5. The above financial results have been reviewed by the Audit Committee and then approved by the Board of Directors in its meeting held on 29 May 2025. The above financial results are available on the Company's website www.dcmsr.com and also on www.bseindia.com & www.nseindia.com.
